Village tax levy sinks $154,000

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

Unanimously approving a motion made by Trustee Don Amundsen, head of the Village of Antioch's finance committee, the Antioch Village Board approved a tax levy ordinance that lowers the levy by $154,000.

The tax levy, running from May, 1989 to April 30, 1990 will be $645,583 compared to last year's levy of $799,900.

Amundsen explained that the figures used in arriving at the levy were "much closer to the actual expected expenditures than last year and we cut spending on some of the funds."

Later on in the meeting, Amundsen took the floor again, this time on the subject of "Antioch's unwanted apartments."

"Everybody seems to hate the idea of any more apartments being built in Antioch, but no one seems to be doing anything about it," he said.

Amundsen suggested that new apartment building could be limited in favor of other multi-unit development such as condos and townhomes by taking certain measures.

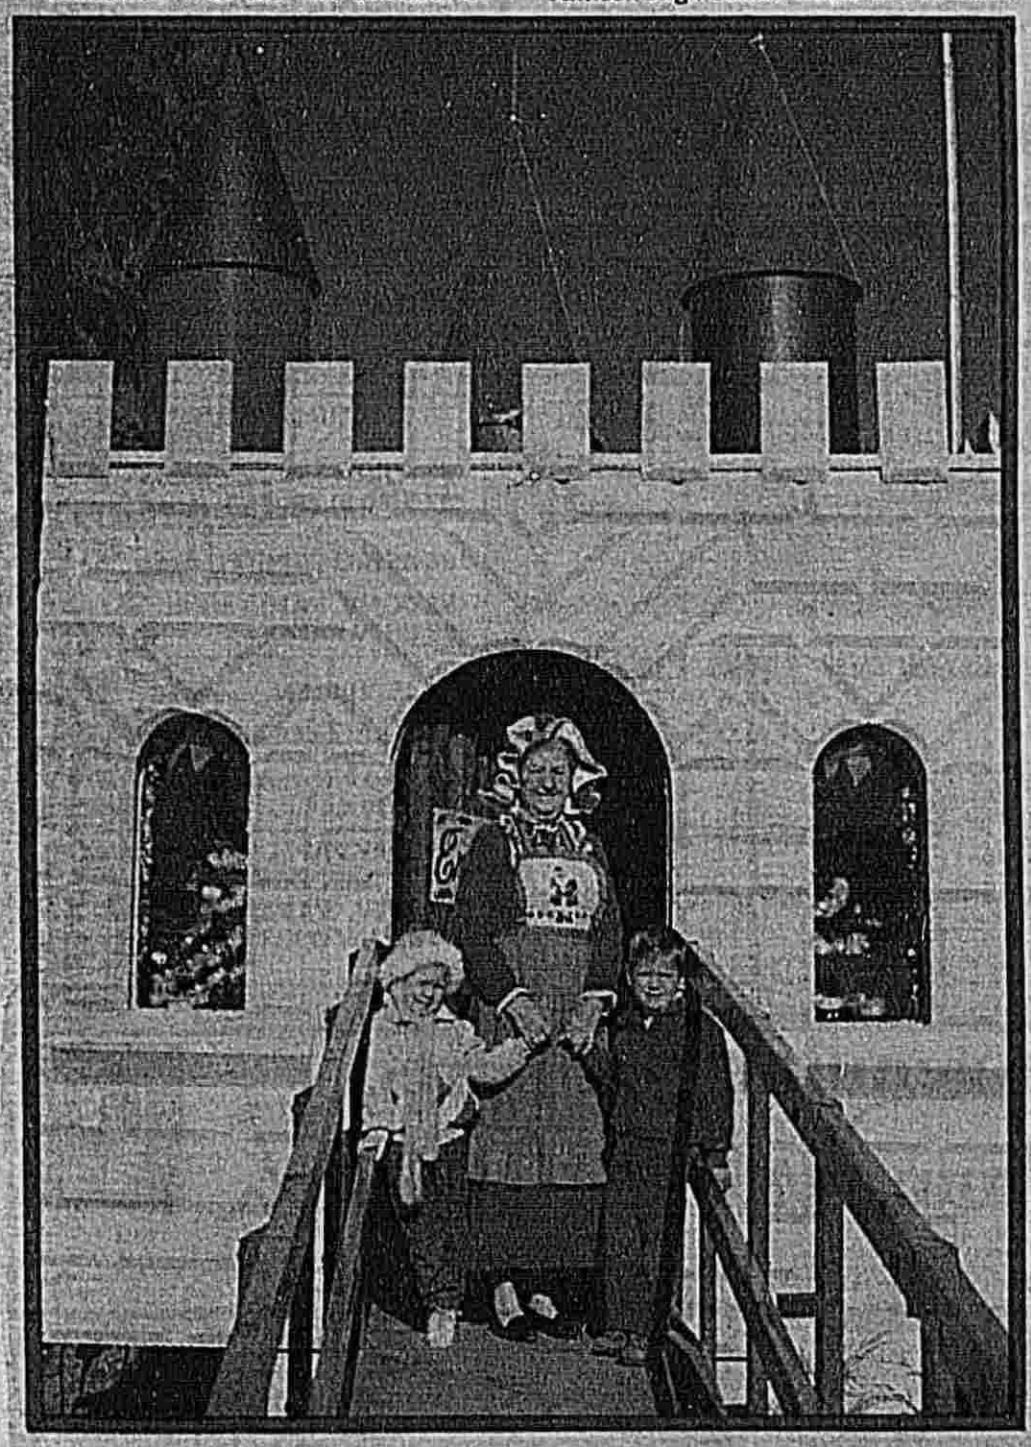

"We can raise the square foot minimum size requirements or change the number of units allowed on a lot," he said.

Amundsen went on to lambast the continual building of apartments above commercial enterprises, suggesting ordinance amendment is needed.

ACHS Board addresses development

by KIM BOLTON
Lakeland Newspapers

Concerned with the vast amounts of development coming into the areas of Lindenhurst, Lake Villa and Antioch, the Antioch High School Board of Education is trying to find housing for an increasing student population and a method of increasing impact fees.

According to Gary Allen, superintendent of Dist. 117, the student population of the high school is now 1651. He said the building can only hold 1750 students and that after the student population hits a low next year, it will increase every year through the end of the century. By the school year 1992-93, Allen said, the student population will exceed the building's limit.

Citing numerous developments currently being built in Antioch and pointing out several areas planned for growth in the villages served by Antioch schools, Allen said the impact fees currently received by his school are only about $220 for a three- to four-bedroom home. The method used to determine impact fees originated in Naperville in 1968 and is commonly referred to as the 'Naperville Formula.'

"With this tremendous impact that's coming...we're certainly going to be overwhelmed," Allen said.

Three committees have been formed to work on solutions to the growth dilemma and advise the board of education of a plan of action.

The Antioch Village Board appointed the Wilton Advisory Committee to consider school impact fees to be assessed on future development. This committee, consisting of Antioch Village Trustees Don Amundsen and Mabel Lou Weber, as well as School Superintendents Gary Allen, Dist. 117, and Don Skidmore, Dist. 34, was expected to present several optional plans to the Antioch Board of Trustees Thursday evening.

According to Allen, the committee is advising that no discrimination to developers or to the type of housing being built, be made in assessing impact fees. He said one formula should be used for all.

"We would prefer not to discriminate in any way in terms of housing...We are getting more students from (some) areas than we anticipated," Allen said, adding that some multi-family dwellings are sending more students than projected and that those students cost more on average to educate.

Allen warned that the impact fee his committee is recommending will be in the area of $2,500 for a three- to four-bedroom home.

The other committees working on handling future growth issues are the Growth and Development Committee of the Dist. 117 Board of Education and the Growth and Development Advisory Committee which consists of 25 residents of the school district and was appointed by the board.

The job of the Growth and Development Committee whose members are Frank Walsh, chair, and Ted Axton, is to monitor the student population growth of the district and address problems caused by the growth.

The 25-member advisory committee will meet for the first time on Thursday, Dec. 14. This committee will inform the board of education how the community would like to solve the financial and space problems that are affecting the school district.

"We're asking this committee to tell us what way do people in this community want to go," Walsh said in a presentation he, Gary Allen and Ken Wierschem, ACHS business manager, made to the Lindenhurst Village Board Monday night.

Walsh told the Lindenhurst Board that his Growth and Development Committee so far has come up with four solutions to serve an increased student population.

He said a new addition of classrooms could be made to the existing school, although it would deplete the already small campus of needed space. A second alternative is constructing a new building to house 600 students at the 50-acre Polly Field campus at the corner of Grass Lake and Deep Lake Rds. Walsh said this building could be for freshman only and would cost approximately $7.1 million to construct.

Simon inspects Wadsworth wetlands project

by BILL SCHROEDER
Lakeland Newspapers

U.S. Sen. Paul Simon pledged support for pleas for greater federal involvement in the DesPlaines River Wetlands Demonstration Project in Wadsworth.

Simon personally inspected the 450-acre northeastern Lake County site Tuesday afternoon and immediately telephoned Army Corps of Engineer officials in Washington to secure release of $2.2 million from a $22-million fund the Army Corps has earmarked for wetlands research.

Officials of Wetlands Research, Inc., a private organization devoted to restoring the flood-prone DesPlaines as it enters Lake County, left no doubt in talking to Simon that the Army Corps has to be a key player in funding completion of the project estimated to cost $10.2 million. Approximately half of the budget has been secured, according to Director Donald Hey, with state and local contributors ranking first and second, private industry third, and the federal government fourth.

"He'll call tomorrow," Simon told Hey after talking briefly with Robert Page, undersecretary of defense in charge of Army civil projects.

Walking down a gravel path and surveying a series of huge linked ponds that receive water directly from the river, Simon declared, "This is the kind of thing we ought to do more of."

Hey quickly supported Simon's comment that unemployed workers could be marshalled for public works purposes. "We have a project where we can use those people," he declared.

Anthony Dean, a former director of the Illinois Dept. of Conservation who is active in various conservation causes, emphasized the importance of getting the Army Corps more involved in DesPlaines River restor-ation because it ties into the Illinois river system.

Dean said the Army Corps should view what's being done at Wadsworth as a "better way" for flood control.

Albert E. Pratt, vice president of Wetlands, Inc., told the former presidential candidate, "The tragedy is that we don't need all the soybean and corn production that continues to silt into our rivers and waterways."

Work on rechanneling the river, construction of experimental wetlands area, installation of water conduits and monitoring devices began in April, 1986.

The experimental area is located at Rte. 41 and Wadsworth Rd.

Churchill makes bid for 5th term

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

State Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa) of the 62nd Dist. will seek his fifth term in the Illinois House of Representatives next year.

Churchill, who is the assistant minority leader in the House, said he loves the job and want to continue serving.

The announcement came at the same time Churchill was taking part in a three-day seminar with American and Soviet leaders. It was Dec. 3-5 at the Wingspread Conference Center of the Johnson Wax Co. in Racine.

The two groups discussed human rights, military policies, political philosophy, economic policy, Eastern Europe and environmental policy.

Churchill participated on the environmental panel. He represented the policies of state government toward a cleaner environment. This panel was to draft mutual goals to be drawn up on conference topics.

The conference was sponsored by the American Council of Young Political Leaders. Members of the 15-person Russian delegation came from Moscow, Estonia, Latvia, Volgagrad and Byelorussia. Two members belong to the Supreme Soviet of the USSR.

In reaction to his announcement of a fifth term, Lake County Republican Party Chairman Robert Neal said: "Everyone respects him. His word is as good as gold. He works day and night for us."

Al Jourdan of McHenry, state Republican party chairman, said: "Churchill is one of the most respected and hardest workers in Springfield."

Lee Daniels (R-Elmhurst), the House Republican minority leader, said, because of Churchill's leadership abilities, "he is often called upon to handle tough tasks in the legislature and negotiate issue of importance to the governor."

In addition to his duties as a legislative leader, Churchill serves on a number of committees, including Rules, Revenue, State Government Administration and the Select Committee on Roads and Bridges.

Churchill's family has lived in Lake County for several generations. A graduate of Grayslake High School and Northwestern University, he earned a law degree at the University of Iowa. Aqua Center building goes down

Wrecking crews work on demolishing the Antioch Parks and Recreation 's Aqua Center bathhouse last week. The building that had been standing for 20 years, gave way to plans for a new one with construction already underway. It took workmen only two days to demolish the existing building. Construction on the new bathhouse began this week with monies to help cover costs to be discussed with the Antioch Lions Club at the club's Jan. 4, 1990 meeting.

New owner takes over, burglarized hours later

According to the Antioch Police Lt. Tom Fisher and chief investigating officer, Mike Culat, the Squire Restaurant, at the intersection of Rte. 173-83, was broken into sometime before 5:30 a.m. last Friday.

Culat said that a waitress, Joy Dejule, arrived at the restaurant at that time to find the cash register drawer next to the register and a cigar box that is kept in the showcase at the cashier's station on the floor.

The owner, John Rapaioannou was notified and he called the police.

According to Chief Charles Miller, a steel door at the rear of the restaurant had been pried open.

The restaurant's office had been ransacked and the desk drawers also pried open.

Approximately $2,000 was taken.

Rapaioannou had just officially taken the restaurant over at midnight from the former owners, John Gianakakos and Spiro Liarakos.

The same morning, the Blue Bar Restaurant, located in the Round Lake Commons strip mall, also owned by Gianakakos and Liarakos, was burglarized and $500 in cash taken.

An employee arriving at the Blue Bay at 5:30 a.m. found the door lock had been pried. Noises were heard coming from the office and upon entering it, the employee found a flashlight still lit and the burglar alarm had been turned off.

The Antioch police remarked on the bad luck connected with the taking over of the Squire.

When Gianakakos and Liarakos took over three years ago, an employee was involved in a murder.

As soon as new owner Rapaioannou took over last week, the restaurant was burglarized.

Both the Antioch and Round Lake Police Dept's. are investigating the break-ins.

The display cases have been filled with a number of items from the society's inventory which represent "gifts from the past."

There are gifts for ladies, gifts for gentlemen, and many gifts for boys and girls. This display will continue through Jan. 6.

The Lakes Region Historical Society is open to the public on Saturdays from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. It is located at 817 Main St. in Antioch.

Oakwood Knolls man says everyone's harassing him

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

Dan Hanrahan, resident of Oakwood Knolls, is continuing his fight with the Village of Antioch, the Oakwood Knolls Property Owners Assn., and now the Antioch school system.

Hanrahan came back in front of the board on Monday to complain about being cited by Antioch;s building inspector for the fence that fronts his property.

He was told that the fence violated the ordinance in that it was over 20-feet long, being 58 feet in length.

""I moved to Antioch for peace and serenity and I've had nothing but harassment since I moved in," said Hanrahan.

He was told that he had to go on front of the plan commission.

Hanrahan claimed that a clerk in the village hall told him that he did not need a permit because he was replacing an existing fence.

Village Atty. Ken Clark said that the clerk had misunderstood the situation.

Hanrahan claimed that he had been harassed by the Oakwood Knolls Homeowners Assn. since he put a seawall in the channel in front of his home.

The Knolls residents are complaining about the wall because "It juts three feet into the channel."

"Why wait four months, that's how long the fence has been put up. It isn't a coincidence that the complaints come as I am starting to put an addition on to my home, they (home owners) have objected to everything I have done.

Recieves donation

Russ continues walking in the Village of Antioch

Russ Fairchild, Antioch's famous stroller, continues his holiday walk through Antioch. The Las Vegas Restaurant, owned by the Katris Brothers is still one of my favorite haunts. I've known all the Katris families since they chose Antioch for their homes. They were pioneers who gave our community an eating place that would rival any other, not only in fine food, but the beautiful surroundings to consume it in.

Shirley Vaughn and Denise Barhyte are busy at the counter serving a couple heavy hitters, Village Trustee Don Amundsen, and Dr. Donald Skidmore, school superintendent.

Nearby is that "Man about Town," Steve Pacini, Talking with Henry Hofkamp. Barber Dick Radke and Ruth and Bonnie Tarkowski are being served breakfast by pretty Rita Torres.

Over in the dining room, gathered about the large round table are: Shirley Robinson, Myrus Nelson, Paul Maginot, Lee, Howard Wells and Vernon Gilbertson, retired milk man, being catered to by Sharon Harder and Senior-waitress Jean Benser. "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen."

Over in a booth is a favorite couple of mine, two famous moose clowns, Bobbi and Ken Knackstedt. Maria Bruha is seating Margie, and her accomplished musician husband, Uncle Jess Lloyd of the Stardusters.

Pat Jelinek is serving George Ptack and Paul Dye in another booth. Phyllis Mengler walks in and Tim Wells is just paying his check to Cashier Pamestrada. It's always great to see Tim!

Out in the rear parking lot, Skip Whitton of Monarch Heating is just pulling away, as Franks Roofing is entering. Here's two efficient and reliable tradesmen I'd recommend for all seasons. They've never let me down.

The Maplethorpes, Vivian and Jim, have just parked their classy, classic car. I wave to Sue and Jim Glenn of the Well-Drillers.

At the Lakeside Restaurant. Your genial hosts are Carl and Margie Turner. This is a friendly place with excellent food. Charming "Welcome Mat" Realtor, Addie Goodrick, is having breakfast at counter, as is Henry Malone, a connoisseur of food. Sara Lyons comes in for take-outs. "Joy To The World."

Glenn Fox, Paul Zeien, and the Effingers, John and Mildred, are nearby being served by Margie. Mike and Bonnie Cole are in a rear booth with daughter Michelle. Milton Tate walks in.

Alone in a side booth, are two of my favorite neighbors, Gene and Mary Hermano. It's always a comforting feeling to walk past their attractive home on Naber Ave., their well kept premises, yards and flower beds are neatness throughout.

In the front booths, slowly filling up, from the Parishioners at St. Peter's Church, are Gert Lorenz and Lottie Vejvoda, Robert and Clare (Lector) Kadera, Kathy Davis, Jim and Vickie Vermillion and Oops - the door opens, and sure enough, in walks the Lombardo's - not Guy and Carmen, but Sam and Frances.

Marvelous Marilyn Edwards and Jeri Taylor are the two pleasant waitresses, who know how to please the cash customers. However, the only music you might hear, will be that of Carl with is pots and pans emanating from the kitchen.

I do believe, all things relative, that if our popular priest Father Hanley of St. Peter's was here, he'd bless the food. Amen.

At the State Bank of Antioch. President Randy and Jane Miles, were two stars again in "Duets" (Footlights - 89").

I'm pleasantly greeted by lending Vice President Wally Jaszkowski, whose warm personality comes through like gangbusters; Jean Rockow, likewise. Marcia King is busy in her front office. Carolyn Blanchette, trust officer is talking to that lady of many talents, Florence Babusek. Betty Sutcliffe and Ina Larson, two anchors of wisdom are there.

Janet Setek is at the tellers station conversing with pretty Denise Wells. Nearby are Diane Broecker and that heavy hitter Tom Cody, and Connie Anichini.

At the hot corner, the information desk sits Barbara Christensen or Beverly Rzysko.

Carl Wurster, a Rock of Gibraltar, after admiring the Christmas tree, takes off for the post office. "Tis the Season to be Jolly."

Upon my departure, I have the pleasure of a brief encounter with village trustee, famous organist, Mable Lou Weber, along with our prominent Police Chief Chuck Miller.

Russ finishes his stroll next week.

Liz praises writing of ACHS students

by LIZ SCHMEHL
(708)395-5380

I recently purchased a magazine titled Finesse '89. Finesse is a collection of creative writing submitted by various Antioch Community High School students. I haven't finished ready it completely, but I've loved what I've read so far. I'd like to share a piece that I truly enjoyed. It would be a dream come true if I had the ability to write like this. The name of the piece is "Hidden," and it was written by Jeremy Richter, Class of '89.

Somewhere, in a distant galaxy in another universe, there is a world.

And inside that world there was a country, and in that country there was a state.

And in that state there was a city, and in city there was a house. And in that house there was a room, and inside that room there was a closet.

And inside that closet there was a box, and in that box there was a pink jelly bean.

Wow! What a mind—I wish it was mine.

Holiday stroll

Speaking of enjoyable writings, I hope you all read Russ Fairchild's column last week as he took his readers along with him on his annual holiday stroll through our "Hometown."

I really enjoyed your column, Russ. I felt as if I were walking right along with you.

However, I'm jealous, as it definitely looks like you know a lot more people in and about town than I do.

Do me a favor the next time you see your friends. Ask them to call the Lizard from time to time, between your column, in order to fill my column up with more tidbits and, also, give me the opportunity to get to know and talk with all the people you wrote about.

Keep writing, Russ, your column sure helps put us in the holiday spirit.

Ticket sales winner

Congratulations are in order to my son, Jim Schmehl, on winning $25 for selling the most raffle tickets on his particular Viking football team.

It seems I remember helping him sell a few tickets, but he doesn't seem to be receptive to sharing his wealth with his poor old mother.

Maybe I won't feel like helping him sell his tickets next year! Not really, I enjoyed doing it, and it is for a good cause.

Agency relocates

I recently received a phone call from Don Fechtner, and, boy, was he ever excited!

Don and his wife, Judy, were lucky enough to purchase a fantastic building built around 1860. Plans are underway for the Fechtners to move their Allstate Ins. Co. from their present Lake Villa location to this new (old) building located at 431 E. Grand Ave. They plan to be fully relocated by early 1990, and ask that you keep looking for the changes as they prepare to open.

Hometown Goodies

They would like to keep the decor of the building significant of the era in which it was built, and ask anyone who has any knowledge of the building's history to please contact Don or Judy at the Allstate office located on Milwaukee and Grand Ave. in Lake Villa. Congratulations, Don and Judy, on the purchase of such a special building and good luck in your re-location.

A third alternative is joining forces with Grayslake Community High School and the fourth is to do nothing at this time.

Allen said there are many more options which haven't been thoroughly looked into and hinted at a "plush" addition of a swimming pool.

When asked by Lindenhurst Trustee Jim Betustak why Dist. 117 is just now planning for growth, Allen said it didn't appear in the past that such a tremendous amount of growth was coming. In fact, he said the population of students began to take a dive a few years back and the district was doing all it could to bring growth in.

Now, Allen said, the action that Dist. 117 takes depends on how fast projected developments come about, how rapidly the homes sell and how many children they produce.

"It's a big guessing game at this time," Allen said.

Papers messy

Joe Huber, head of streets for the Village of Antioch, told the board that there is a real littering problem on Main St. early on weekend mornings, because the newspapers in the pay machines are thrown all over the streets.

"They pay 35 cents and take out 30 papers and throw them all over because they've probably been drinking," said Huber.

There are eight machines right downtown where the vandalism occurs, six are on public property and two on private property.

It was decided that the public works department would work with the Chamber and the police department to solve the problem.

Hometown

through the evening, the power went off and the ladies had to continue their fun evening by candlelight.

On Monday, Nov. 27, the following ladies re-assembled for another demo at the home of Pat Santiemmo. The following people were shocked when the lights went out again—Sally Hiller, Elsa O'Brien, Ardeen Harris, Marian Rhode, Judy Fechtner, Pam Colletti, Cathy Dunfrund, Renate Wlezien, Sandy Chinn, Linda Boerman, Ginny Charvat, Sue Stella, Darlene Olenick and Liz Schmehl. The only person who wasn't surprised was Marie Brausam, because she was the "stinker" who put husband, Tony, up to turning off the circuit breaker for a few moments. Once again, Marie, thanks for the laughs, and thanks for the memories.

Etc., etc., etc.

Sorry, Wally Henning, I didn't mean to leave you out of the December birthday list. So, happy Dec. 18 birthday to you.

I am extremely proud to announce and welcome a new member to the Lakeland Press sales staff. My eldest daughter Donna, recently began working for Lakeland as a salesperson for display ads. Donna truly loves the field of sales and has really enjoyed her first week on the job and meeting all of her co-workers at Lakeland.

In a recent phone conversation, she told me that Lakeland is truly a family business, with husband and wife teams and daughters and sons-in-law, etc. After talking with her, I though how nice to have one of my children work where I do—even if I only work and write from afar. Hey, Lakeland, first the Lizard, now Donna. By the way, I have two more daughters and a son—who knows?

I have a message for Celia Bennett in Oxford, Ga. As you all know, Ceil used to live in our "Hometown" and still receives this paper 1,100 miles away.

Ceil, Ardeen Harris told me the reason she doesn't write you is because she knows you read this paper (especially my wonderful column). Therefore, she said, what is there left to write about once the Lizard gets done. But hang in there, she promises a letter is on the way. When she writes you those tidbits, remember to share them with our readers. Ha, ha!

Well, folks, that is it. I must start to clean my house a bit, as soon I will be putting up our Christmas tree and baking Christmas cookies. Luckily, I am almost done with my Christmas shopping and most of my gift items are already wrapped.

As stated in last week's column (but omitted from the printing), Christmas is, by far, my favorite holiday. One of my favorite gifts to receive is a big bag or box of gumballs to keep up the supply of gum in my old-fashioned gumball machine bank. I love to chew and pop gum—ask anyone. I also love potpourri, music boxes and sweatpants. Did you hear that, Santa? If not, maybe I'll sit on your lap at the annual GLS PTO Breakfast With Santa this Sunday.

Till next week, take care.

Beg your pardon

We apologize to Lindenhurst Police Ofc. Phil Smetters for confusing his name with that of Jason K. Hauser, who confessed to stealing an automobile from Don Pittman Pontiac. The mix-up occurred in the Dec. 1 edition of the Antioch News-Reporter.

Depke to make comeback attempt for county board

Warren Twp. Supv. Robert Depke has made if official—he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Lake County board member in Dist. 5.

Depke, who is the dean of township supervisors in Lake County with over a quarter-century of service, says new leadership is needed on the board.

Depke announced his candidacy at the Warren Twp. Senior Christmas Luncheon before over 500 senior citizens, one of his favorite groups in his township. The luncheon is held every year at Midlane Country Club.

"We face several very important decisions in the next few years. We have to decide about where to site a landfill and whether to build an incinerator; what the appropriate use of land condemnation is; and we have to work together to create effective drug abuse prevention and treatment strategies," he said

"Right now, we have too many single-issue members on the board. To deal with our problems and to serve all the people we need more than a single-issue mentality," Depke added.

Depke is a former county board member and chairman. He cited the programs he has initiated in Warren Twp. as evidence of his concern for all the people in his district. He has initiated recreational programs for all ages, offers a center with year-round activities for senior citizens, and has had a treatment center for troubled youth for over a decade. He has also worked to provide housing for low-income residents and for seniors, and has put together special facilities for the handicapped.

The broad range of services offered in Warren Twp. has ended up garnering two major awards for Depke in the last two years. Two years ago, he was honored with the President's Award, given by the president of the Illinois Twp. Officials Assn. to the outstanding public servant of the year. It is an award that has previously gone to such luminaries as former Sen. Charles Percy and State Sen. Pres. Phil Rock.

Earlier this year in Washington, D.C., Depke was given the Sen. David Durenberger award for his outstanding service to his community, which is given annually to the outstanding township official in the nation.

Dist. 5 includes all of Warren Twp., most of Libertyville, and part of Vernon Twp. The primary election will be held on March 20, 1990.

Commuting in reverse

Get ready for "reverse commuting." You'll be hearing more about this phenomenon. Reverse commuting isn't exactly new. In fact, it's been around a long time, particularly on the North Shore where Chicago residents used to take the old North Shore Line electric cars to housekeeping jobs in homes of the wealthy along the Gold Coast. More recently, many civil service jobs at Ft. Sheridan and Great Lakes Naval Training Center were filled by commuters traveling away from, rather than toward, the big city.

Now reverse commuting is the wave of the future, according to both transportation experts and urbanologists who say the only way to fill all the jobs being created in suburbia will be with reverse commuters. Suburban communities simply will be unable to provide suitable housing and services demanded by the growth of office and service industries in our locality.

Officials of Nortran, the North Suburban Mass Transit Dist., speak enthusiastically about the potential of reverse commuting service, not only in terms of delivering city dwellers to jobs in the burgeoning office centers of Lincolnshire and Vernon Hills, but also better utilization of existing equipment. The proposed Wisconsin Central Railway link between Mundelein and Chicago is a natural for reverse commuting, they say.

In the opinion of Nortran trustees, the success of the Mundelein hub will depend on tying in bus service to major employers throughout south Lake County with commuter rail service for city residents, who are the so-called reverse commuters.

Developers of commuter rail service in both directions, coupled with an increase of express bus routes from the city to suburb and suburb-to-suburb is an inviting alternative to cementing over the countryside with more and bigger highways.

No elder statesman role

The decision of County Board Chairman Norman Geary to retire from public life is certain to leave a void in the Lake County political scene when he concludes his current term next November.

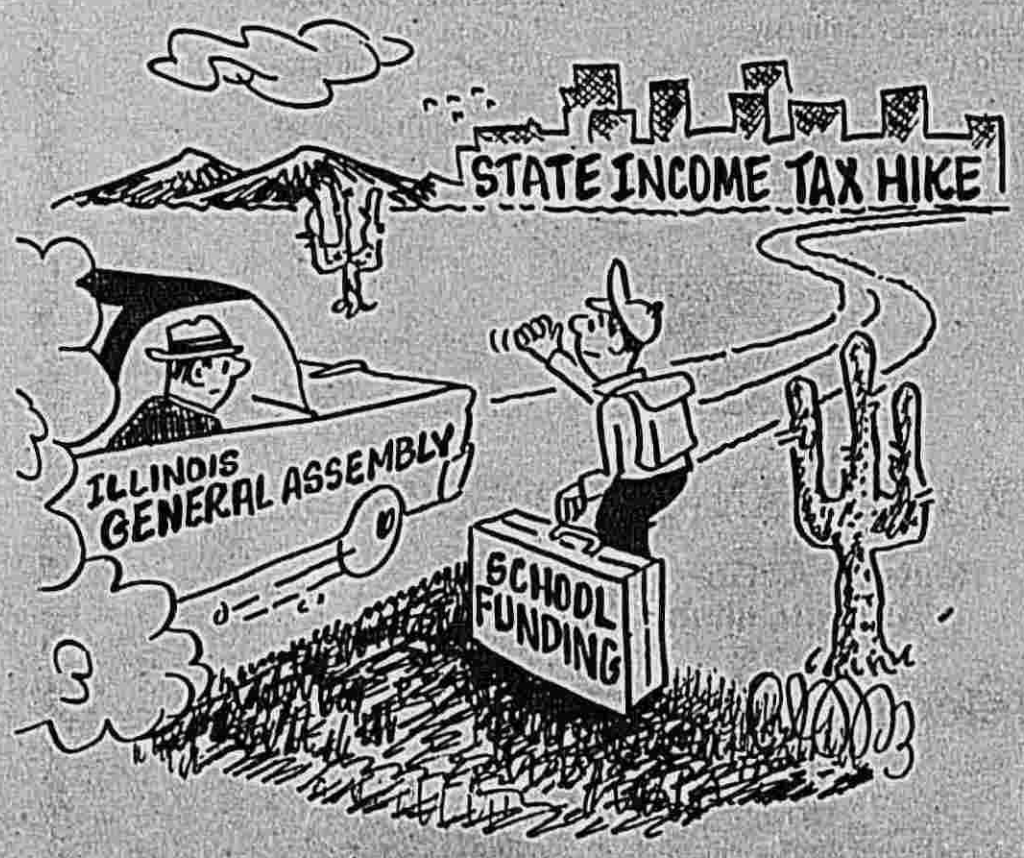

In an era when more and more elected officials are criticized as bland and plastic, in his more than 25 years in office as a village trustee, township supervisor and county board member, Geary was anything but dull and superficial. Geary lost about as many battles as he won, but there never was any doubt where he stood on an issue. Like a good linebacker, the life-long resident of Grayslake has an uncanny ability to root out the location of the ball.

Always a Republican, but never a GOP insider, Geary vaulted into prominence when elected Avon Twp. supervisor in 1963 when supervisors automatically made up the county board. He was stamped as a leader the moment he was seated as a county board member. Eventually, Geary would serve two separate terms as chairman besides holding a variety of key committee posts, depending on whether he was allied with the winner or the loser. Norm always decided early and went all out for his candidate or an issue.

Geary's battles were legendary. He took on the Big Spenders early in his career, fought entrenched Shore Line interests, tiffed with his fellow townsman, the late Sheriff Robert "Mickey" Babcox over budgetary matters, campaigned for modernization of county governmental operations and invariably supported independent candidates who shared his adherence to fiscal responsibility and opposition to lock-step politicians who took their marching orders from behind-the-scenes string pullers. His flair for drama and refusal to take dictates earned him the label of a maverick and, ultimately, cost him the Avon Twp. supervisor's post in a bitter, expensive fight over the open space issue which he has been championing in recent years. His 1988 defeat as supervisor was especially hurtful because the race was based on the narrow question of use of eminent domain powers rather than operation of an exemplary township administration noted for implementing social awareness programs.

Chairman Geary already is looking forward to returning to his original calling of investment banking and financial counseling. As he puts it, there'll be a base of operations and new public policy questions in which to get involved. Based on his record of total involvement, Norm Geary will be more than an elder statesman—much more.

Social welfare never far from Simon's thoughts

by BILL SCHROEDER

Ever the social innovator, U.S. Sen. Paul Simon sees as much opportunity to put the unemployed to work at a project like the DesPlaines River Wetlands Demonstration Project as he does flood control and restoration of the flora and fauna.

While his hosts at the Wadsworth project pressed him for more federal support, Simon spoke about the need to "integrate environmental needs with employment needs; plant trees, do work. We've developed such a large pool of unskilled people."

Noting that unemployed make up the largest segment of drug users, Simon lamented, "We could do it today," referring to putting citizens to work on worthwhile civic projects. Simon isn't alone in the yearning in high places for solving social ills of the nation through creation of modern versions of the Peace Corps of the '60s and the Civilian Conservation Corps of the '30s.

Even though the junior senator from Illinois might have some pretty sappy ideas about appropriate symbols for the University of Illinois, we happen to think he's right on target talking up make-work projects. What's it going to take? Another Great Depression? It wouldn't take long to create a domestic Peace Corps if all the senators and congressmen started pushing at once.

COLD START—Employes may have trouble getting to work when the thermometer drops below zero, but Abbott Laboratories is going to make sure they'll be able to get home with an emergency car-starting service available around-the-clock at Abbott Park, North Chicago, Building K2 and Bannockburn. The company maintains the services of 35 employes and 20 pieces of snow removal equipment for roadways, parking lots and sidewalks. That's the equivalent of about a half-dozen or more local village street departments.

EARLY SANTA—Emily Seaver of the Lakeland Apartments for seniors in Fox Lake told about the anonymous person who donated a Thanksgiving turkey, including the dressing, saying only that "they" had cooked one too many. The unexpected gift made for a nice party. Now that's what we call holiday spirit. The residents sure appreciated the surprise, Emily Seaver related.

PICKY—In our affluent society, even the needy are picky these days. My offer of a used, but working gas range was turned down by the Salvation Army "because it wouldn't look good in our store." Non-alcoholic beverages

Editor:

The holiday celebrations are usually cause for more drinking and, unfortunately, more impaired driving. Bad weather and more traffic make good driving skills especially important at this time.

I suggest that taverns, and anywhere else where liquor is served, offer and list a variety of non-alcoholic beverages. Wines and beers with the alcohol removed are quite tasty. Patrons without a designated driver should be encouraged to drink these for a while before driving home, giving the body time to burn the alcohol.

Sherman gets his way

Editor:

On Nov. 21, Mr. Sherman won in more than one way. Wauconda will not fight to display its traditional cross on the water tower. But the compromise we chose is also quite a victory for Mr. Sherman. The five-pointed star is the symbol for the atheist—one who denies the existence of God. The satisfaction he feels when he sees that star must give him great pleasure.

It's true we cannot display any cross on public property. But what is stopping us from showing Mr. Sherman just how passionately we feel about this issue. Let's build our own lighted crosses and display them on our private property—a domain Mr. Sherman can do nothing about. Many have already done this, and what great joy it is to see them all lit up proclaiming our belief.

Winchester 'costs' small

Editor:

A dear friend of mine lived at Winchester House for several years. I am eternally thankful for the kind, thoughtful, patient people who work at Winchester House. My admiration for the employees is unsurpassed. However, the newspapers never bother to speak about the wonderful employees. If there is a problem with one "rotten apple" at Winchester, the news is splattered in the paper in repulsive headlines.

Many healthy people never bother to visit the facility or think about what they would do if their 16-year-old daughter became an invalid through an accident at school; or if their 45-year-old head of the household suddenly had a debilitating stroke; or what they would do if Grandpa had Alzheimer's disease and could no longer be cared for at home.

It is time for the taxpayers to put their priorities in order. The nursing home cannot modernize, update, replace worn out furniture, buy food or pay their employees on the same amount of income it did 10 years ago. People want Winchester House to be there when they need it, but they don't want to pay for it in the interim so that the home can continue to operate.

The next time there is a referendum for a tax increase for Winchester House, think about what a small price it is to pay for a clean, first class nursing home with employees who make it seem like hor[illegible] It's more important than you think.

Politically Speaking

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

Big news these days is who is running for office or, rather, who isn't. You've heard or read that County Board Chairman Norman Geary is throwing in the sponge at the end of his term next fall.

After 30 years in the political arena, Geary said, "I'm going to take off the boxing gloves."

"It gets in your blood," he said of politics. "But I no longer have the support of the people," he said about last spring's loss of the Avon Twp. supervisor post he first won in 1963.

To hear Geary tell it the world of the 1980s and 1990s has passed him by—in the township, the County Board and Forest Preserve Dist.

He wants to go out a winner, which is why he is retiring voluntarily rather than at the end of an expensive March primary.

Between now and next November look for Geary to leave his mark on Lake County as more than a second-time chairman of the County Board. Between now and next November he is certain to practice his brand of government. One will be to dismantle the Rudy Magna-dominated Round Lake Sanitary Dist. Coming next is a much talked-about plan to cut the 24-member County Board in half. There could be other surprises, too.

Heir apparent to Norman Geary's seat as Dist. 4 representative on the County Board is Charles Johnston of Round Lake Beach.

He made his name as the youngest person elected to the Round Lake School Board. He was 23 at the time.

Then he became a newsman before Geary tapped him for a vacancy on what the supervisor regarded as the problem-ridden Round Lake Sanitary Dist. That body collects taxes, holds regular board meetings and spends money, but is yet to pump an ounce of sewerage. Johnston liked what he found and turned against Geary. So Johnston only served three years.

Now 33, Johnston is a full-time public relations man. He works out of his home.

On weekends, or one night a week, he works as a bartender at the politically-connected Landmark Restaurant in Antioch. Johnston has lots of other political connections by virtue of his news background. This is what makes him a winner even before he puts his name on the ballot.

Also sounding like he is calling it quits is embattled F.F. "Mike" Graham. He is the Dist. 5 County Board member of 16 years standing and Libertyville Twp. supervisor for 20 years until his defeat last spring.

"Money buys elections and those out to defeat me such as the development interests will have a $150,000 war chest," Graham said about a similar fate he suffered last March. "That kind of money doesn't do much against the $7,000 to $10,000 I might raise."

If there were someone willing to pick up the open space gauntlet, Graham said there is no doubt he would retire. But no one has the stomach or, possibly, the vision of Mike Graham.

"The gold rush of the '80s and '90s in Lake County is land and development," Graham said. "Open space is a dirty word," said the man who convinced the Legislature to authorize the first open space district in the state in Libertyville Twp. In the few years of its existence under Graham, 715 acres were acquired. "Lots of people support my philosophy, but those opposed have the bucks."

Graham is confident history will look back upon him as a visionary and crusader.

Talking about Libertyville Twp., things haven't been the same at the township hall since Graham left office last spring.

Meetings held three times a month by the township board on a regularly-scheduled basis aren't anymore. This is confusing for the public, media and, even, board members.

Regular meeting dates were the second and fourth Monday of each month. Under Graham there was usually a third meeting each month devoted to business of the open space district.

Norman Geary

Ralph Swank

F.T. 'Mike' Graham

Under newly-elected Sup. Ralph Swank Jr. the October meetings were juggled. So were those in November and December, mostly because of the holidays. At the Monday, Dec. 11, meeting the dates for January and February will be set.

"Swank has been trying to cut the number of township meetings to one per month," said Twp. Clerk Faith Boettcher-Sage.

But Libertyville Twp. can and does hold meetings anytime. Consider the latest one at 6 a.m. on Dec. 4. It was called on short notice after the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. informed the Cuneo family interests it was acquiring 80 acres of much-talked-about land for an appraised $28,095 an acre. More than half is in a flood way and is unbuildable.

The township board met in the early hours on a Monday morning and voted 4-1 to acquire the same land for $55,000 an acre—without an appraisal.

"People and taxpayers, in particular, have to wonder what the hell is going on in Libertyville Twp.," Graham commented afterwards.

Until this week Wauconda Twp. Sup. Gerald Beyer, a one-time Dist. 6 County Board member, was playing a cat-and-mouse game with township Republican precinct committeeman Howard Bieze.

Both have their own cliques in this politically divided township. Beyer is a member of the mainstream Republicans. Bieze has his own followers known as the Wauconda Twp. Republican Assn.

Both had nominating petitions for next spring's County Board primary. Beyer wanted to get back into the political swim. Bieze would like to do the same, but only to cancel out Beyer's votes in order to play the spoiler role.

This week Beyer thought better of running, saying there are two good candidates in Ela Twp. Sup. Robert Grever and former Mundelein Mayor Colin McRae. So he dropped his name from consideration.

"I'll bet Bieze does the same," Beyer said. "The only reason he was in the race was to siphon off votes for incumbent Dist. 6 County Board member Bruce Hansen of Deer Park. Although I think Bieze would have made a better board member than Hansen, Bieze was only in this battle to keep the political fires burning."

Bieze said politics isn't necessarily fair in Wauconda Twp. As a matter of fact, he says, "It stinks." So he's out to give it a new look.

That is, if he doesn't change his mind between now and the Monday, Dec. 18, deadline for filing.

Going for high density

Editor:

After attending most of the three Village of Gurnee hearings regarding the proposed change in zoning requested by Lexington Developers from R-1 to a combination of R-5, R-4 and R-3, I was most disturbed by the seeming lack of interest by the village board and the developers in the natural resource opinion from the Lake County Soil and Water Dist.

This opinion paper by experts in the fields of conservation, erosion and water pollution highlighted many major flaws in the Lexington development, as submitted. These include lack of a soil erosion plan, the destruction of 70 acres of prime hardwoods, the probable death of the designated wetlands due to poorly planned stormwater measures, and the probable increased flooding and well contamination to affect neighboring communities.

I must applaud the Lake County Board's attempt to work with Mayor Welton prior to rezoning. Chairman Norman Geary's letter to Mayor Welton expressed community concerns perfectly. On the other hand, when Mayor Welton criticized county projects I felt that he was only somewhat justified. While it is true that previous developments have been approved with inadequate impact fees, I found the comparison between the Lexington development and the combined Brookside, Mill Creek Crossing and Hunt Club Farms ridiculous.

Lexington proposes to have 12.5 percent open space, 20 acres of commercial, and 3 and 1/2 units per acre if figured with wetlands and commercial as part of the formula, but over 4 units per acre if calculated without wetland and commercial property. The other three developments have a total of 33 percent open space, 12 acres of commercial, and either 2.4 acres per unit with open space and commercial included, or 1.6 acres per unit without inclusions.

The Lexington development will probably bring many more students to the local schools than are being estimated, whereas the other three are currently bringing one-tenth the number estimated. The obvious reason being that Lexington wants to market to young buyers, whereas the others are selling mostly to buyers over 40.

Equally worrisome are the Zale development plans already at the Village Hall of Gurnee. These promise to be even denser than those of Lexington. Will voters just get tired of attending board meetings and pointing out problems, only to be ignored? It is a shame that the Village Board of Gurnee chooses to encourage only high density housing.

Everyone should be aware that both Zale and Lexington are involved in lawsuits in McHenry County, due to poor erosion planning.

No bribe intended

Editor:

I would like to rebut a letter to the editor from Terri LaDuke concerning the Almond Rd. Marsh acquisition by the Lake County Forest Preserve. Being a resident of the "affluent" Arbor Vista Subdivision that Ms. LaDuke seems to hold with such disdain, there are a few points that I would like to make.

First, Arbor Vista did indeed petition the forest preserve to acquire the Almond Rd. site, but it was hardly done in the secrecy Ms. LaDuke alleges. Our presentation was done at a public meeting of the land acquisition committee before several members of the press. I would not call that conducive to secrecy, would you?

Second, this acquisition is the cornerstone of a much larger plan. Several property owners contiguous to this site are either donating land or are agreeing to restrictive covenants placed on their land so that generations to come may benefit from their legacy.

Third, the land that was annexed into Grayslake has the Illinois Dept. of Transportation (FAP 420) right-of-way running through the middle of it. Neighbors of Ms. LaDuke subdivided their farm into five to 10-acre parcels, which were sold to people who had hopes of building custom homes on these sites. Within weeks of closing on some of this land, the new owners were contacted by IDOT. I didn't hear Ms. LaDuke coming to their defense. It is our contention that the Lake County Forest Preserve Board, which is comprised of our elected officials, is more amenable to negotiations than the Ill. Dept. of Transportation, which only wants to lay concrete in a straight line.

Fourth, I hardly consider our donation of $10,005.35 to the forest preserve a bribe. Considering the millions of dollars that our neighbors were donating to the forest preserve, we felt that we would like to participate in an acquisition that not only benefits us but three surrounding townships as well. Face it, the board recognized a good deal and took it; that's why it passed 18-6. That money now may well go towards legal expenses that Grayslake helped incur.

Fifth and final comment. I'm sure that the debate will rage on, but I've got to go—the kids are screaming, dinner is burning, I've got to pay the mortgage, electric bill, car payment, etc., because unfortunately the maid, the cook and the tooth fairy forgot to come by my "exclusive, affluent" home today.

Sue Simpson, Treasurer
Arbor Vista Assn.

Geary takes off 'boxing gloves'

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

An era is coming to an end.

Lake County Board Chairman Norman Geary will retire from politics at the completion of his term in November 1990. Geary, along with F.T. "Mike" Graham of Dist. 5 in Libertyville Twp., are part of a small band of County Board members dedicated to preservation of open space and known as the "rascals." That title was attached to them because they do not adhere to mainstream County Board politics.

Geary, who has been in political life since 1957, issued a statement earlier this week. It said:

"After more than 30 years of serving the public as an elected official, County Board chairman and Avon Twp. supervisor, I have decided not to seek re-election.

"I will retire at the end of my term next year to devote full time to my family and business, Geary & Geary Investments of Grayslake, which I own with my son, Jim." That business was operated by Geary when he made his first political bid.

"It has also been my hope to make Lake County a better place to live, hold the line on taxes and maintain the quality of life we now enjoy. I believe I have done that."

Noting the decision not to seek another term was a difficult one, Geary said he feels it was the right one.

"I wish only the best for the people of Lake County and hope they will remember me as fondly as I remember them," he concluded.

Geary, 66, came to politics in 1957 when he was elected as a Grayslake alderman. He served until running for mayor of Grayslake in 1961, an election he lost to Leo DeMeyer by 51 votes.

In April 1963 Geary ran for Avon Twp. supervisor upon the announced retirement of incumbent Maurice "Pink" Murrie. He held that post continuously until unseated last spring by former Grayslake Trustee Russell Christian.

Geary served simultaneously on the former and present-day County Board with the exception of two years from 1980-82.

Along with his present term as chairman, Geary also served in the same office for two years from 1976-78.

Among Geary's proud achievements as supervisor was building of the Avon Twp. hall at Washington St. and Hainesville Rd. in Round Lake Park. The complex, which offers a myriad of human service through various organizations and, was built at no cost to taxpayers, using Community Development funds and $80,000 in cash from the sale of the former township hall in downtown Grayslake.

The township offices accommodate the county's only Citizens Action Program (CAP) with food, rent, weatherization and other programs for those of low income and disadvantaged including monthly food distribution; and the Midlakes Health Clinic, a daily clinic for low to moderate income, elderly and others offered by the Lake County Health Dept.

About not seeking re-election, Geary said he detects a lack of public support for his philosophy, as evidenced by his lopsided defeat as supervisor last March. With filing dates for next March's primary from Monday, Dec. 11, through Monday, Dec. 18, Geary was yet to be drafted for another term as County Board member. Without such support he made the choice to "take off the boxing gloves."

Already announced as running for his job is Charles Johnston of Round a one-time Geary protege, newsman and now a self-employed public relations man. Also running is Robert Boness of Round Lake Beach, who fell less than 50 votes short of beating incumbent Mayor Carl Schrimpf of Round Lake Beach last fall. Boness is an admitted follower and admirer of Geary.

Retirement means Geary will be able to draw upon the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund to which the county has contributed. His highest salary for five of the past 10 years will be averaged to determine his annual retirement pay.

In recent years he earned more than $50,000 annually, including $17,000 as a County Board member and pay as a township supervisor. It was controversy over his being paid as both a supervisor and member of the township board since 1963 that partially led to his losing the job of supervisor. As County Board chairman, Geary is paid $37,500.

Geary will retain until next November the County Board chairmanship to which he was elected last December following weeks of behind-the-scenes political maneuvering. In that battle he unseated one-term Chairman Jim Fields of Antioch Twp. Geary's two-year job as chairman expires in November 1990.

In line for the post are Dist. 3 County Board member Robert Neal of Wadswoth; Robert Depke, Warren Twp. supervisor and former County Board member; and C. Richard Anderson of Dist. 6, who this year serves as chairman of the Forest Preserve Dist. Both Depke and Neal are past board chairmen.

Army Corps addresses Upper Fox concerns

A pre-organizational meeting will be held at 2 p.m. Monday, Dec. 11 for the purpose of developing an Upper Fox River Illinois Special Area Management Plan. The meeting will be held at the Fox Lake Community Center, 79 Keystone in Fox Lake.

The effort is being coordinated by the Army Corps of Engineers to conduct a two-year study on identifying wetlands, analyzing land use and dredging, and to discuss the impact of boating on the waterways.

The Army Corps of Engineers is looking for assistance in conducting the study from various organizations. A proposed management group will consist of three members from the Lake County Board, three members from the McHenry County Board, three representatives from the Chain-Of-Lakes-Fox River Waterway Management Agency, one representative from the Illinois Dept. of Transportation, Division of Water Resources, one member from the Army Corps of Engineers, and one representative each from the Lake and McHenry County Municipal Leagues.

The Dec. 11 pre-organizational meeting is being held to finalize members of the management group and to debate what will be included in the study.

Federation honors deputy sheriff

A Lake County deputy sheriff was honored for "Meritorious Achievement" by the Illinois Police Federation, Sheriff Clinton Grinnell announced.

Deputy Bob O'Connell was recently presented the "Citation of Merit" for "an outstanding act which brings credit to the department and which involved performance above and beyond that required by the members of the department," Grinnell said.

The Nov. 18, 1988, incident began when deputy O'Connell made a traffic stop on Rte. 60 and Peterson Rd., Fremont Township. Shortly thereafter, an intoxicated hit and run driver struck the squad, thereby injuring the deputy and the other stopped driver, Grinnell said.

Despite a severe left hand injury, deputy O'Connell summoned assistance and a rescue unit for himself and the other driver, Grinnell said.

Deputy O'Connell then pursued the offender in his damaged squad to the area of Rte. 120 and Bacon Rd., where the intoxicated driver was subsequently arrested after a brief scuffle, Grinnell said.

TravelCentre, Ltd., 118 S. Main St., Wauconda, has subscribed to a new computer service that automatically rechecks booked air fares to ensure that their travelers are getting the lowest fares available. Fare Assurance rechecks travel itineraries based on comprehensive policy guidelines and determines if there is a better fare available on other flights leaving around the same time as the originally booked flight. For more flexible travelers, the service searches for a lower fare on flights up to four hours before or after the departure or arrival time. For more information regarding Fare Assurance, call TravelCentre at (708)526-0773.

Dr. M. Jeanne Dolphus Cotton, a Vernon Hills psychologist, will be the featured speaker at an agency services open house being held at the College of Lake County Lakeshore Campus on Jan. 5, 1990. The theme of the open house, "The Time to Start is Now," ties in with a favorite theme of Cotton's: "You Can Turn it Around." Invited to the open house will be recipients of public aid and food stamps. The event will provide an opportunity for Lake County human service organizations to inform attendees about assistance to meet their family and personal needs. The open house is being arranged by the Private Industry Council of Lake County, the Ill. Dept. of Public Aid and the College of Lake County.

Vernon Hills

Express Services, Temporary and Permanent Personnel has been listed as number 97 in Inc. Magazine's list of the 500 fastest growing private companies in the country. This is the second consecutive year that Express was named on the coveted list. In 1988, the company, which is based in Oklahoma City and has an office in Vernon Hills, was ranked ninth. "This is a tremendous honor to be again ranked so high among the country's fastest growing private companies," said Marshall Claassen, owner of the Vernon Hills office. "To be able to sustain our growth and momentum has been most rewarding. I'm pleased our efforts were recognized."

Gurnee

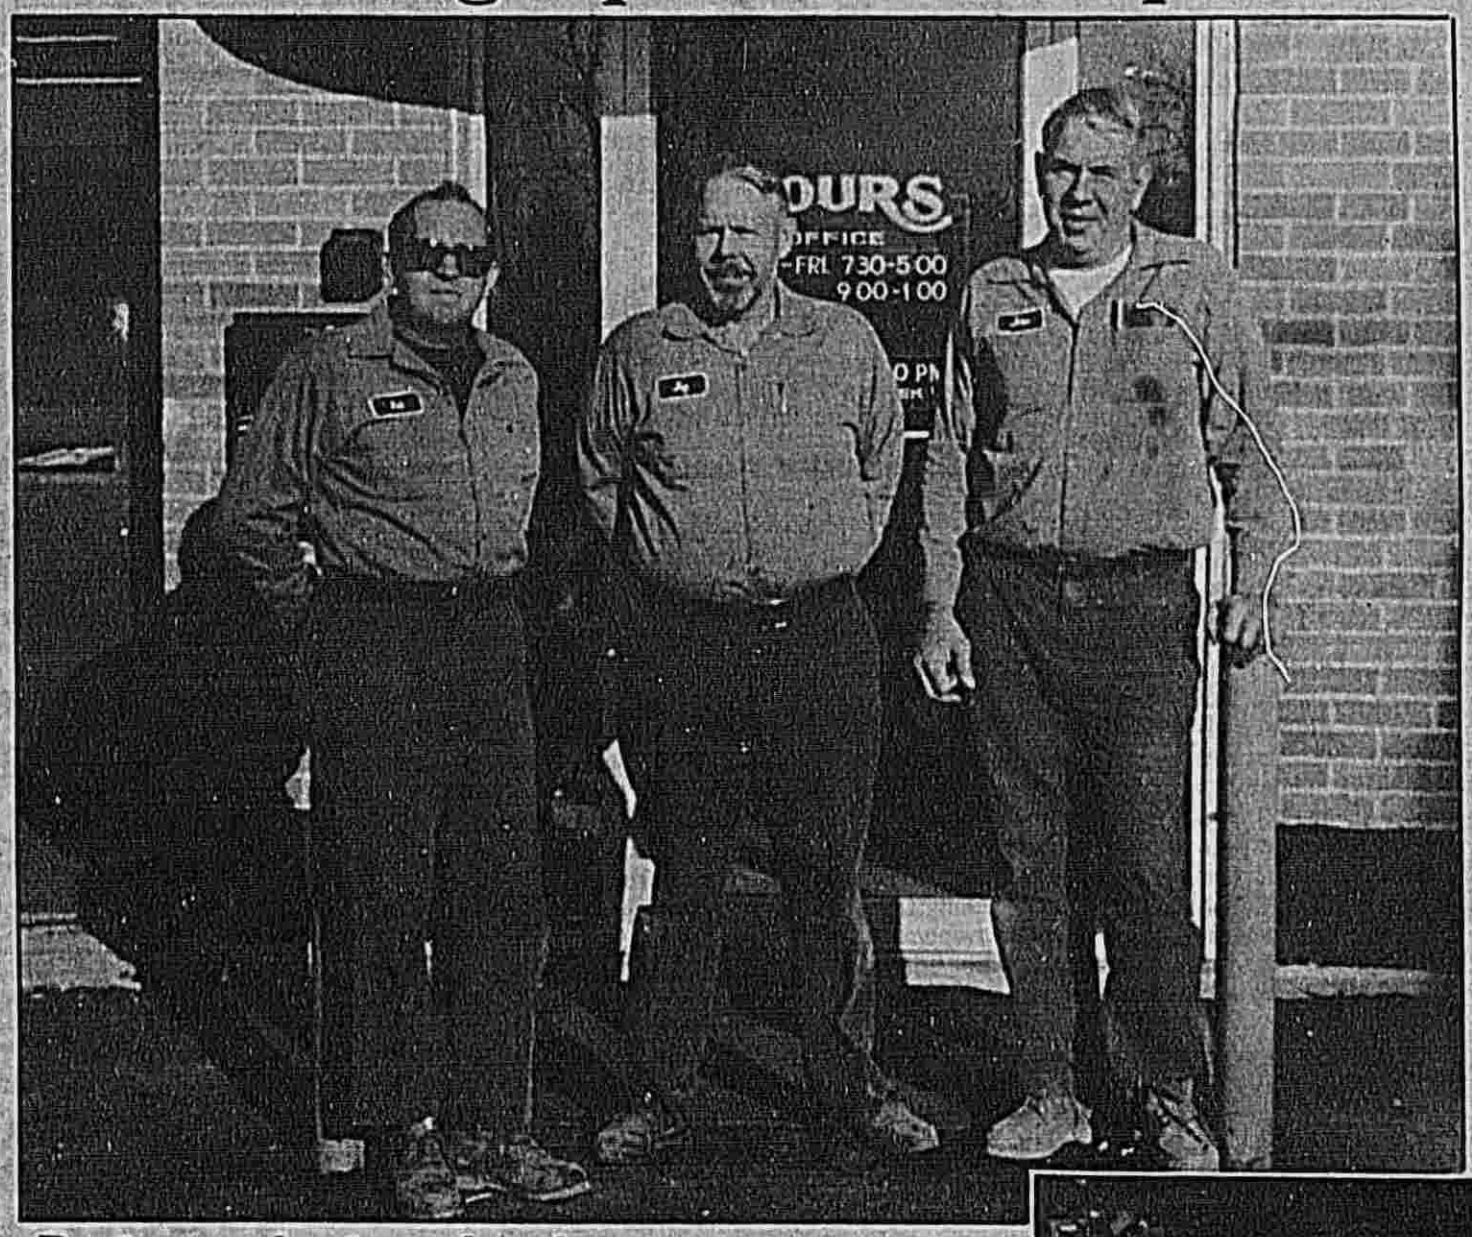

Walter I. Fried, Ph.D., M.D., whose office is in Gurnee, is one of the first cataract surgeons in the Chicago area to implant a new small-incision lens called an intraocular lense (IOL). The lens, which was approved in October by the federal Food and Drug Administration, is benefitting cataract patients in that it requires a significantly smaller surgical incision than traditional IOLs, offering the hope of faster healing time, fewer complications and better vision. Fried's office is located at 3477 Grand Ave.

Round Lake Beach

Giddings and Lewis, a world-class manufacturer of factory automation equipment and machine tools with operations in Round Lake Beach, has announced construction of a 32,000-square-foot plant expansion at the company's global headquarters in Fond du Lac, Wis. "The new facility will house assembly and remanufacturing operations for our technical services operation," said William J. Fife, Jr., chairman and chief executive officer. "The expansion will increase our capacity for rebuilding machine tools produced by Giddings & Lewis and other manufacturers."

Self-storage perfect for partners

Partners in two businesses

The owners of Diamond Auto Body in Wauconda have turned an empty two-acre lot they've owned for 17 years into a new self-storage business. They say the business suits them well because it doesn't take time away from the auto body shop they own at 133 Main St. Top photo, left to right, Bob Thompson, Jay Schafer and John Schafer. After allowing a two-acre parcel of land behind their Main. St., Wauconda auto body shop to sit vacant for 15 years, the owners of Diamond Auto Body decided it was time to take advantage of the investment they had made in 1972.

The partners, Jay Schafer, John Schafer and Bob Thompson, toyed with several ideas for a second business they could build on the property and finally decided on one that would be relatively easy to run without neglecting the auto body shop and wouldn't be a nuisance to the neighbors.

Two years after making their decision, Main Street Self-Storage was opened. The business consists of 102 storage units in sizes ranging from 25 to 400 square feet.

Jay Schafer, who owns the businesses with his brother, John, and long-time Army buddy Bob Thompson, said he and his partners decided after 15 years of paying escalating taxes on the empty property, it was time to let the property make money for them.

"We pro-ed and conned a lot of ideas," Schafer said.

After much discussion, the three partners decided on the self-storage business. But they still had one problem—the property was zoned residential.

Schafer said it was two years before the Village of Wauconda granted their appeal to change the property's zoning to commercial and approved the building of the self-storage facility. At first, he said his neighbors were upset with the idea of being able to view a storage business from their backyards. They requested that he build a 10-foot brick wall around the business.

A settlement was reached on a fence and trees to surround the aluminum structures.

Now, after only four months in business, Main Street Self-Storage is already more than half full.

"All in all, we're very happy with the addition. It seems to fill a need," Schafer said.

According to Schafer, people utilizing the services of a self-storage business just need extra space for storage. He said many people keep boats and cars in his storage units. Schafer hopes the passing of village ordinances in places around Wauconda prohibiting parking of campers, boats and pick-up trucks in driveways drums up business for him.

Since their move from Des Plaines to Wauconda in 1972, Schafer says he and his partners are very happy with life in the northern suburbs. The rent in the Des Plaines auto body shop that they owned for 10 years is now $4,200, up from $600 they were paying when they sold the business.

Jay Schafer and Thompson first met in the Army in the 1950s. They worked together with Schafer's three brothers at Cadillac Motors in Evanston before deciding that they could be working for themselves.

After opening the body shop in Des Plaines, Schafer's younger brother, John, left his job with the postal service and returned to working with his brother.

The auto body business is a good one to be in because there will be work as long as people are driving, Schafer says. But, he adds, it's not going to make him rich.

"It's a good business. I'm not going to get rich off it and retire to Bermuda—unless my lottery numbers come in," Schafer jokes.

Although Schafer says customers often tell him as they're leaving the shop that they hope not to be back, his company depends on repeat business and advertisement by word of mouth.

"You don't survive in a small town if you don't work for your customers," Schafer said.

Workers' comp agreement improves business climate

The new workers' compensation program approved by the General Assembly at the close of the fall veto session last week marks a significant improvement in the State's business climate, Sen. David Barkhausen says.

Barkhausen, a member of the Senate Labor Committee which held extensive hearings on workers' compensation issues, noted that the bill focuses on speeding up settlement of claims by establishing a new panel to deal only with the 2,000 backlog cases, some of which have been unresolved for as long as two years. To help prevent future case delays, binding arbitration will be permitted when both an injured worker and an employer agree to submit the case.

Other important provisions of the bill will bring stability to the rates which employers pay for workers' comp insurance, Barkhausen said. "Additional manpower and resources will enable the Industrial Commission to keep better records of past cases, which can then be used as precedents to settle pending cases without extensive litigation," he said.

To reduce costs for employers, companies with good claims experience will be allowed to get out of the assigned risk pool.

Mike Eaton, manager of safety and security for Saint Therese Medical Center, was reappointed to a third term on the Lake County Emergency Planning Commission, a state-appointed committee. The council comprises representatives from the fields of health, fire, police, transportation, business and the media. He is currently the vice chairman, and supervises disaster planning at the medical center. "The medical center has been very supportive of my work with these commission," Eaton said.

Year's end brings financial planning thoughts

by ALAN NADOLNA
Lakeland Newspapers

This is the time of year when we enjoy the holidays and often begin to think about planning our finances for the coming year. Here are some thoughts that might help.

There will be no capital gains tax relief for the foreseeable future. The treatment of gains will be the same as ordinary income. For those who have delayed in the hopes of reduced taxes, its back to the drawing board.

We have spoken about the tremendous tax savings possible with charitable remainder trusts. These unique planning tools allow us to eliminate capital gains taxation and realize substantial income and estate tax benefits.

Section 89, that feared and complex legislation dealing with employee benefits, has been repealed in total. It is still a fact that Congress is seeking increased revenues and new legislation will probably be introduced in 1990.

This Way to Wealth

Nonetheless many employers have learned about the real costs of many of the benefits they provide and about the substantial savings possible with the use of "non-qualified" benefit programs. Many firms are also introducing cost-sharing with employees to enable the employer to continue to provide benefits.

Without tax-deductible IRAs we must look to the use of annuities and life insurance and tax-free municipal bonds to develop tax-advantaged accumulations. Fortunately, variable annuities allow us to invest in stocks, bonds, international securities and precious metals in a tax-deferred vehicle. Life insurance and fixed annuities allow us to compound interest without current taxation.

Life insurance legislation has made it much more difficult for this product to generate tax-free income. However it is still possible.One creative combination is an immediate annuity which generates largely tax-free payments with a life insurance contract. The annuity payments are used to fund the life policy, and the life policy then provides tax-free income.

Congress has left the disputed matters of catastrophic health care costs and taxation of social security benefits open. It still appears that retirees will bear the burden of these expenses. This has created increased interest in tax-free investments and tax-favored investments like annuities and life insurance.

The year 1989 we will remember as one marked with a great deal of controversy in tax matters, and one in which little was resolved. The most encouraging financial developments have been the signs of individuals taking more interest in and exerting more control over their financial futures.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

reported by Brosius D'Arcy

Although balanced funds are of the most conservative mutual funds, they still present a risk. And, like all mutual funds, balanced funds present different levels of risk. Generally, they underperform all-equity funds in good markets but offer an edge of market protection in bad markets.

The risk of a fund can be measured by the quality of securities in the portfolio.

One way to evaluate a fund's risk is to study its history. One way to do this is to compare a balanced fund's performance to that of a high-quality growth-and-income fund managed by the same fund group.

Remember, a balanced fund should underperform comparable growth and income funds in good markets, offer downside protection in bad markets, offer a better total return than high-grade corporate bonds, and keep you ahead of inflation.

If you're a conservative investor who still wants the opportunity of growth to hedge against inflation, you may want to consider investing in balanced funds.

An employee quits before working a full year, still entitled to vacation pay?

A Question From The Illinois Chamber HELPLINE

THE ILLINOIS CHAMBER

Q. One of my employees resigned after working only nine months, do I have to pay vacation time since she did not work a full year?

A. Yes. You must pay 9/12 of the vacation pay she would have received if she had worked for a year. This is based on an Illinois Appellate court ruling of July, 1986 that the Illinois Wage Payment and Collection Act requires employers to pay "pro rata" vacation pay.

If employers would like more information on this and other Chamber services, call 312-372-7373.

Sales to increase by 5-10%

With Christmas just around the corner, retailers across Illinois are looking forward to strong holiday sales to finish up the year.

A survey of members of the Illinois Retail Merchants Assn., which represents more than 23,000 retailers in the state, indicated that stores are expecting sales increases of five to 10 percent over last year, which is about the same as the gains experienced in 1988.

"Illinois retailers are looking forward to a good Christmas," commented IRMA President David F. Vite. "The projected increases bode well for a shopping season that represents anywhere from 20 to over 40 percent of annual sales."

Traditional gift items, like ties and sweaters, again seem to be taking a turn toward the opulent for holiday gift giving, with "glitzy" separates, leather, fur and rich patterns already selling well. This year's popular gadgets include cordless screwdrivers and ratchet wrenches, as well as laser printers and high-speed-portable modems for computers.

Promotions have played an increasingly greater role in garnering holiday sales, with most respondents emphasizing more advertising, and especially direct mail, to customers.

Bicycle adventure of a lifetime

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Interested in a 38-mile bicycle tour? How about we make this trip in Hawaii. Let's add one more feature particularly appealing to an aging baby boomer like myself. It's all downhill! This little trip is known as Cruiser Bob's Haleakala Downhill, and begins at the summit of the Haleakala Crater at 10,023 feet on the island of Maui and ends at the beach in Pala at sea level.

Bob offers two departures. The one I would recommend is the sunrise trip. Just seeing the sunrise from the summit of Haleakala is worth the trip, and that's just the beginning. You are picked up from your hotel at 3 a.m. (think of it as 8 a.m. Central Standard Time). You get breakfast on the summit and watch the sunrise.

You then begin the 38-mile downhill adventure. You will experience all of Maui's beauty, from lunar-like volcanic terrain, tropical jungles and waterfalls to white sand beaches. Accompanied by two professionally trained escorts, a tour cruise leader and escort van driver, you will be allowed plenty of stops for picture taking and refreshments. A picnic lunch is also included.

You will be riding a specially designed bicycle with brakes that could stop a Sherman tank. The ride doesn't take much physical effort, yet it is still not for someone who has not been on a bike before. While there is no age requirement, you must be over five feet tall and not pregnant. Obviously, anyone with a medical condition impairing their ability at high elevations should not make the trip.

Temperatures can be 35 to 40 degrees at the summit, so warm clothing is recommended, as are sunglasses and closed-toe rubber-soled shoes.

The total trip takes about eight hours. While the $95 price tag may seem a little high, it's an adventure you will be telling your grandchildren about!

Atlantis Bedrooms, a bedroom furniture store, has leased 5,000 square feet at the center. Three other leases signed were for Cederlund's, a 2,300-square-foot men's and women's activewear store; Sports Arena, a 900-square-foot sports clothing store; and Harry's Restaurant, 2,000 square feet. Riederman represented all parties in these transactions. These leases bring RiverTree Court to 97-percent occupancy.

Bradford Cos., formerly Vantage Cos., is making its presence known in Chicago's retail market. With close to 1.5 million square feet of shopping centers under its belt, the developer is currently constructing four major retail centers totaling 1.2 million square feet in the Chicago suburbs of Lake Zurich, Waukegan / Gurnee, Naperville and Oswego/ Montgomery.

'Hour' an escape

by TOM WITOM
Lakeland Newspapers

"The Cocktail Hour" may seem anachronistic in today's rush-rush society. But in the mid-1970s and before, it was an institution in many homes.

In A.R. Gurney's comedy of the same name, the cocktail hour for Bradley and Ann was more of a ritualistic way of escaping life's turmoil rather than letting their hair down. While they routinely sipped their martinis or scotch, a revolving-door kitchen staff prepared dinner and their daughter and two sons grew up.

Now John has come back home for a visit and to get his parents' approval to publish and stage a play he has written about their lives.

The father, worried that the dramatization might put him in an unflattering light, would just as soon see the play tucked away until long after his death. Barry Nelson epitomizes parents from the old school who prefer to leave well enough alone and not probe too deeply into personal relationships. The daughter, played by Jean DeBaer, is miffed because she was given a bit part in the play.

Elizabeth Wilson, as the mother, comes up with a few surprises of her own to help her son fill the gaps in his manuscript.

The real star is Mark Metcalf, as the son, the Depression Era baby who was lost in the shuffle and is still screaming for attention.

"The Cocktail Hour" successfully knocks down years of tension that has kept a family emotionally apart.

It has many good lines and witty observations, such as when Nina (Jean DeBaer) tells her brother "If Dad had killed the fattest calf, you'd complain about the cholesterol."

The play is being presented at Chicago's Royal-George Theatre, 1641 N. Halsted St.

'The Best Christmas Pageant' to go on stage Dec. 14 - 16

Barnabas Players of the Evangelical Free Church of Wauconda announce their cast for a delightful show at Christmastime - "The Best Christmas Pageant Ever." The play by Barbara Robinson, adapted from the popular book of the same name and shown on tv as well, will be performed Thursday to Saturday, on Dec. 14 to 16.

Ty Rodden has been cast as Ralph, the oldest of the notorious Herdman family. Other Herdmans who threaten to disrupt a traditional Christmas pageant are: the cigar-smoking Imagene played by Aimee Austin and Carrie Sabourin, brother Claude played by Dan Ritchie, the wise-cracking brothers Ollie and Leroy played by Dave Johnson and Dan Ducey, and the youngest and meanest of the clan - Gladys - played by Sarah Austin.

In contrast, we have the easy-going Bradley family: led by the narrator and daughter Beth played by Jeni Ducey, her little brother Charlie - Ryan Kuester, and their parents played by Ken Hedges and Patty Bohmann. The contrast is even more dramatic in "Goody-Two Shoes" Alice Wendelken by Elizabeth Carr, and preacher's kid Elmer Hopkins Ivan Rodden.

Other cast include the church battle-ax Mrs. Armstrong by JoAnne Tegtmeyer; her lieutenant Mrs. McCarthy by Paula Moore; Mrs. Slocum by Peggy Carr and Becky Palmisano; angel choir members - Karen, Kelley and Jennifer Smith, Lori Provo, Megan Hedges, Hope Barnes, Jessica Rand and Andrea Bailey; shepherd boys - John Kachtik, Keith Hedges; and firemen - Andy Palmisano and Fritz Kutsch.

This Barnabas Players production will be directed by Christopher Barnes, founder of the group. This marks the fifth production of the group including "Gordie Goes To College", "Who Moved The Stone," and "The Great Bank Robbery." As with previous productions, this Christmas show is sure to deliver plenty of laughs.

Hunting paraphernalia makes good holiday gifts

As holiday hunting season approaches, it becomes time to "pass the buck." We are in a glorious, unlicensed hunting spree—Christmas! Hunting is for gifts to remember those important in our lives.

The buck we "pass" this time of year is a 2.6- by 6.14-inch piece of paper containing a picture of George Washington, our first president. There are no antlers on this buck, but a rack of them may be needed. Dollar bills are so popular, the U.S. Treasurer circulates $88 per head, for each one of us.

This puts about 3.3 billion bucks in circulation at any given time, and 22.5 million new bills are printed daily to keep up with replacements for the damaged or worn out.

A buck-bill mortality rate is about 18 months, with a normal 400-transaction lifetime. The growing need for replacements is because what we bought for $1 in 1940 costs 8.5 times that amount today—inflation! So, we really don't buy eight times more presents; we just spend more on each one.

Looking for bargains may not be as difficult as it sounds. We tend to seek gifts that can be used frequently, are safe and will make someone's life more pleasant. To many of us, this means nature's outdoors.

The Illinois Dept. of Conservation can help. Their holiday catalog is available from any office. In our area, call (708)814-2070 to have one sent.

T-shirts and sweatshirts in a variety of colors with one of 18 Illinois designs included are very popular. Add belt buckles, caps, birdhouses and books on wildlife, hunting, cooking, fishing and travel.

The prices are affordable and profits go to aid the preservation and maintenance of state natural resources.

Then, too, usual shopping sources and sport stores offer special prices for Christmas shoppers. These attract some of your $88 bucks with popular items of fishing, camping and hunting equipment, gloves, clothing, boots and rain gear, to name a few.

Maybe a gift to the non-outdoor person this year will be just what's needed to spark a new interest and to start a lifelong recreational outlet, or rekindle a neglected one.

Ice anglers agree that some of the finest fishing can be done during winter. Fish are better eating, the water is clearer, and they grow increasingly hungry as food resources decline.

Though in our area we tend to associate ice fishing with pan fish such as bluegill, crappie and perch, there is no limit to game fish that feed below the ice.

The big ones are hungry, too, and will respond to proper baits at the right locations. Once ice firmness is established at four inches or more, great ice-covered surfaces provide unlimited possibilities in our 1.5-million surface acres of Illinois waters.

Generally, any fresh water angling gear available can be utilized in ice fishing—the smaller and lighter the better. This also applies to hooks, bobbers and baits. Transparent line of one- to four-pound test is ice popular, but if heavier quarry is sought, equip the rod accordingly, up to 10 or so pounds.

Check out local forest preserves for suitable fishing areas close to home.

Lake County At A Glance

Lexington OK

GURNEE---No matter what your view, Monday marked a landmark day in the development of Gurnee and Woodland Dist. 50.In Gurnee, trustees voted unanimously to approve a planned unit development for the 446 acre Lexington Homes project known as Arbor Valley.Meanwhile in Gages Lake, Woodland Dist. 50 Board of Education members voted to approve a new developers donation agreement and heard its options explained by a Legat Architects representative."It's a good agreement for everyone. The real winners are the kids," Jerry Vargo of Lakes Partners said after the board approved the pact.

Taxes going up

LAKE ZURICH — Lake Zurich residents won't see as large of a tax hike as was first expected after the village board voted to hold off issuing a Lake County sewer bond until after the end of this year. Village officials were expecting to raise the village tax rate to $1.18 per $100 of assessed value until several trustees suggested not issuing a $465,000 county sewer bond, half of which was included for debt servicing this year. As a result, residents' rates will rise from 88 cents to $1.09 per $100 of assessed value. The rate is the third lowest over the past 10 years.

Backs land buy

GRAYSLAKE---Grayslake Mayor Marv Smith is supporting a negotiated purchase price of the 800 plus acre Picket Fence Farm property. "We have repeatedly stated our willingness to support any settlement between the owner and the forest preserve district through negotiation. The village has never taken a position against the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. of this site on open space versus development grounds. However, the village has consistently opposed condemnation and the district's acquisition decisions made without municipal input. Now that the parties have agreed and the acquisition to go forward without the use of condemnation, the village can wholeheartedly support the acquisition."

$4.4 million Santa

LIBERTYVILLE—At a 6 a.m. meeting on Dec. 4 the Libertyville Twp. board voted 4-1 to acquire 80 acres of the 880-acre John Cuneo estate at the southwest corner of Butterfield Rd. and Rte. 176 for $4.4 million or $55,000 an acre. The pre-dawn action followed by one week a written offer from the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. to purchase the same land for an appraised value of $28,095, or $2 million less. F.T. "Mike" Graham, former township supervisor, said "this action makes the current administration look like Santa Claus."

New fire chief

LAKE VILLA TWP.—Members of the volunteer Lake Villa Fire Dept. voted unanimously for Frank Slazes, Jr. to serve a one-year term as the department's new fire chief. Slazes, Jr., is the son of the former fire chief, Frank Slazes, Sr., who was killed in an automobile accident on Rte. 83 on his birthday, Sunday, Oct. 15. Previously a captain on the Lake Villa Fire Dept., Slazes is a fireman and paramedic for the Skokie Fire Dept. His dad retired from the same department as a lieutenant.

Flood of applicants

LINDENHURST—Lindenhurst officials have a big job ahead of them sorting through the near 100 applications that have come in for the position of police chief since the resignation of Gary Kupsak, who left for Vernon Hills in October. The deadline for filing is Monday, Dec. 11 and Mayor Robert Ratch says he hopes to fill the job by February. A committee comprised of Ratch, Trustee Carol Zerba, her husband, John, who is the head of recruiting for Hewitt Assoc., and Village Administrator Jim Stevens will be screening the applicants. For the vacant village engineer position, only a dozen applications have been received from applicants wishing to replace John Heinz, who is now working in Barrington. Stevens will be interviewing his choice of applicants.

Ft. Sheridan loses

SPRINGFIELD—A federal judge Dec. 4 threw out a lawsuit filed by Illinois officials trying to block the closing of Chanute Air Force Base in Rantoul. The action affects 86 other military installations, including Ft. Sheridan, scheduled to be closed to save money. The state had argued the closings were illegal because this placed too much power over deployment of the armed forces to a commission that recommended the closings.

Nip apartments

ANTIOCH — Village of Antioch Trustee Don Amundsen told the board, "Everyone's against the building of more apartments in the village limits, but no one does anything about it." He suggested raising the square footage requirements for each unit, mandating the placement of two doors in each unit and allowing fewer units per lot as possible discouragement to future apartment developers. The board is considering an ordinance that could include his suggestions.

Coach is charged

LIBERTYVILLE—Sophomore football Coach Keith Culberson, 39, faces two counts of sexual abuse involving a 16-year-old student. The Nov. 27 incident reportedly involved touching in a classroom. The coach was hospitalized for an unrelated reason following his suspension from the teaching job he has held for 15 years. He will be formally charged and released on a $30,000 bond upon release from the hospital.

Population doubles

MUNDELEIN—By the year 2000 this village of 17,521 people will grow to 26,500 and, by the year 2010, to 32,000, more than a 50 percent increase, according to a consulting firm studying future building needs. Among these are an expanded village hall, public works department building and new fire station on the west side.

Mom Likes To Cook

By Randee Rian-Dayhuff

Talk about memories...I was given this recipe 15 years ago in Washington, D.C. when I was just a new bride. Since then, I've shared it many times with friends all over the country. Try it.

For a new Christmas cookie recipe try:

Cheesecake Cookies

1 c. flour
1/3 c. butter, softened
1/3 c. firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 c. chopped walnuts
1 (8 oz.) pkg. cream cheese, softened
1/4 c. sugar
1 egg
2 Tbl. milk
2 Tbl. lemon juice
1/2 tsp. vanilla

In large bowl, combine flour, butter and brown sugar. Blend with mixer until particles are fine. Stir in walnuts. Reserve 1 cup for topping. Press remainder in ungreased 8-inch square pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes until lightly brown.

In same bowl, combine remaining ingredients. Blend well. Spread over partially baked crust. Sprinkle with reserved crumb mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes. Cool; cut into squares.

Makes 16 squares or 6 dessert squares.

Soprano Mims set for concert

The next concert of the Lake Forest Symphony's 1989-90 season will be held on Dec. 15 and 16 and features guest artist Marilyn Mims, soprano.

Highlights of Mims' 1989-90 season include engagements at the Metropolitan Opera as Kostanze in "Die Entfugrung aus dem Serail" and Donna Anna in "Don Giovanni."

Mims won the coveted Metropolitan Opera National Council Auditions in 1986. She was immediately invited to join the company and sang Rosalinde in the 1989-88 season. Mims has also received many awards and grants and has won many competitions including first prize in the Baltimore Opera International Vocal Competition.

Maestro Paul Anthony McRae, in his third season as the orchestra's music director, will feature the Lake Forest Symphony in three selections: the "Overture to La Forza del Destino by Verdi," the "Intermezzo" from Cavalleria Rusticana by Mascagni, and "Pines of Rome by Respighi. The concerts begin at 8 p.m.

All concerts for the 1989-90 season will be held in the Rhoades Auditorium at the Chicago Medical School, 3333 Green Bay Rd. This hall is easily accessible to the handicapped. Subscriptions for the remainder of the season are available for $80 per person, with individual tickets priced at $23. Reservations can be made by calling the symphony office at (708)295-2135 during business hours.

Clinch Mt. Boys scheduled for Woodstock Opera House

Ralph Stanley and the Clinch Mountain Boys will be presented in concert at the Woodstock Opera House on Friday evening, Dec. 8, at 8 p.m.

Stanley, a professional musician for over 40 years, has been one of the foremost practitioners of traditional bluegrass music, a style that evolved out of string band and mountain music by way of one Bill Monroe, a Kentucky-born mandolinist who is credited as being the "father of bluegrass."

Together with his late brother Carter, the Stanley Brothers began performing their unique style of bluegrass in 1946, the backbone of which was their singing.

The Stanley brothers sound tended to emphasize the vocals rather than the instruments, and featured high baritone trios, where the baritone part is raised an octave so it becomes the highest part in the trio.

With Carter Stanley's untimely death in 1966, Ralph began to reassemble the pieces of his Clinch Mountain Boys, and soon had established a credible bluegrass sound forged around Ralph's lonesome mountain tenor vocals and crisp banjo work, and core musicians Curly Ray Cline (fiddle) and Jack Cooke (bass).

Numerous musicians have occupied the position of lead singer with the Clinch Mountain Boys, including Larry Sparks, Roy Lee Centers, Charlie Sizemore and Sammy Adkins, as well as Ricky Skaggs and the late Keith Whitley, both of which went on to achieve fame in commercial country music.

SCOTTSBORO

FLOOR PLAN
209-29 SCOTTSBORO
By Landmark Designs

The Scottsboro takes luxury and a reasonable square-footage and doesn't make them strangers.

At an easy-to-handle 1,876 square feet, the Scottsboro won't make housekeeping your new hobby.

Yet features like a double vanity, walk-in closets and a wood stove bring larger houses to mind.

Even outside features like the stepped front porch, the twin-gabled exterior and the blossoming planter help the Scottsboro say class.

Once inside, the focus is light and openness. Sunlight bathes most of the house in tempting warmth through five skylights. Four of them conspire to light up the combination living room, dining room and kitchen.

Much like a ski lodge, a woodstove serves as a centerpiece for these three informal rooms, turning the trio of rooms into one entertainment center.

The kitchen overlooks this party. That way, the chef doesn't have to miss out on the conversation.

Equally pleasing to any homeowner is the large utility, complete with a pantry, washer-dryer and a utility sink. This packed room compartmentalizes all the elements of household drudgery, making the chores a bit more tolerable.

It's anything but drudgery in the master suite. Its access comes from the main hallway. The king and queen's room features a walk-in closet, double vanity and a huge tub and shower. Ample storage space throughout the house means no mini-storage bills.

A guest room with bath is across from the master suite, near the entrance. The house is surrounded by a patio, a deck, a garage and a carport, making it perfect for a city lot or a second home in the country.

For a study plan of the SCOTTSBORO (209-29), send $5.00 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name & number when ordering). Designers, Architects and readers with plans they would like to see featured also are invited to contact Landmark.

Life insurance: How much is enough?

If you're looking for a shortcut to determining how much life insurance you need, stop wasting your time. The Illinois CPA Society cautions consumers against using pat formulas that apply the same standard to totally different circumstances.

To get an accurate estimate of how much insurance you need to preserve your family's current standard of living, you must assess your personal assets and liabilities, your family's unique circumstances and concerns, as well as such external factors as inflation.

Start by segmenting the years ahead into several different phases related to specific events or circumstances in your family's life. For example, you may want to divide the years to correspond with stages in your child's life: birth, adolescence, college years, marriage, and birth of grandchildren. Alternately, you can base the groupings on changes in your survivors' eligibility for Social Security benefits. Keep in mind that from the day your children turn 19 until the day your surviving spouse retires, there are no Social Security payments.

After you have divided the future into distinct phases, you can begin estimating how much annual income your survivors would need during each of the time periods you have mapped out. As a basic guideline, aim to provide your family with at least 75 percent of your annual take-home pay.

Next, review your family's income-producing assets (such as cash, CDs and securities) and determine the approximate annual income you can reasonably expect to generate from these assets. Add in Social Security benefits for your spouse and children, plus your surviving spouse's salary and any miscellaneous items - such as rental income.

For each stage of your family's life, list the annual amount of income your family will need. In another column, list the annual after-tax income you expect your assets to generate. From the total amount that your family needs, subtract the total amount of expected income. The difference between these two figures represents the "gap" you need to fill with life insurance.

At this point, there are two final adjustments you may need to make. First, subtract any insurance you may already have - such as a group policy from work and/or any employer-sponsored pension or profit-sharing plan that is payable upon death. On the plus side, you might want to add an additional sum for any "big-ticket" extras that you did not provide for when you determined your annual needs (such as paying off your mortgage or another large debt, or providing for children's college educations).

The resulting figure shows how much life insurance you require to close the gap between the amount of money your survivors will need and the amount they will have available from other financial sources.

Determining the amount of insurance you need is a complicated, but very necessary exercise. And because your family circumstances change over the years, CPAs suggest that it's the kind of exercise you should re-assess on a regular basis.

CUB to fight Bell

The Citizens Utility Board (CUB) will appeal a new Illinois Bell rate plan that will mean higher phone bills for most residential consumers and unwarranted, excessive profits for the phone company.

The Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) approved the massive restructuring of the phone company's rates and regulations Nov. 9, over the objections of CUB, other consumer groups and the commission hearing officer who presided over the 11-month case.

Although the plan cuts Illinois Bell's revenues by about $46 million a year, most residential customers throughout the state will see their phone bills increase. The bulk of the decrease will benefit commercial customers.

The ICC's order also imposes mandatory Usage Sensitive Service (USS) on consumers and allows the company to pocket excessive profits, two proposals proven illegal and unfair by CUB experts who testified before the ICC.

"This rate plan is unfair and patently illegal," CUB Vice President Bruce Markwalter said. "Thanks to the ICC, most residential consumers will now pay more for less service, while Illinois Bell pockets millions of dollars in excessive profits."

According to CUB's analysis of the plan, the typical residential consumer outside of the Chicago metropolitan area will see an increase of 22 percent by the end of 1992. The typical Chicago-area consumer will see no change or a slight increase.

CUB and other consumer groups urged the ICC to order a $165 million rate decrease, to be shared by all of Bell's customers.

The ICC's order stems from a $50 million rate increase requested filed by Bell in November 1988. After 11 months of hearings, an ICC hearing examiner rejected the company's proposal and recommended a rate reduction, to be shared by business and residential consumers. The ICC hearing officer also agreed with CUB's arguments that the mandatory LMS plan was illegal and she urged the ICC to reject Bell's request for relaxed regulation of the company's profit level.

Although the hearing examine presided over the hearings and sorted through volumes of evidence, the commission disregarded here recommendations and approved a modified version of the phone company's plan.

CUB is a statewide consumer group created by the Illinois Legislature to represent the interests of residential and small business consumers before the ICC, in the courts and before the General Assembly. CUB is funded solely by more than 150,000 Illinois consumers.

For more information on what CUB is doing to fight for lower utility rates, consumers can call the group's Consumer Hotline at 1-800-222-2822.

Film Review

If you're a Michael J. Fox fan, you'll absolutely love his latest effort "Back to the Future II."

If you're just a fan of the original "Back to the Future," you will find the sequel faster moving, a lot kookier, slightly confusing, a lot more fun, but missing some of the homey warmth of its predecessor.

Though there are reviewers that have turned thumbs down on "II," more of them have agreed it's a flick well worth seeing.

"II" already holds the record for having the largest box office receipts in history for a film opening mid-week.

The sequel has Fox and his favorite inventor Christopher Lloyd as they looked in 1985 and the 1950s, and also as they will look 30 years older, in the year 2015.

The zip-zap travelling from century to century sometimes makes one's head whirl but the spin is a pleasant one.

Especially interesting are the believable futuristic improvements they find in 2015, like hovering skateboards that travel on air and the lifelike more than 3-D ad for "Jaws 19."

The uncanny resemblance of the robot waiters of the future to some famous people of today's generation is a great bit.

Just imagine having a constant running video score keeper for every sport played for 50 years starting with the year 1950! What a chance to be a betting whiz and a rich one when our heroes return home.

It's great entertainment, rating four out of five stars.

Be There

With the 1989 holiday season upon us there are zillions of places to go that exude the yuletide spirit.

On Friday, Dec. 8 and Saturday, Dec. 9, the Waukegan Symphony Chorus and Chamber Singers will hold their famous Christmas Concert at the Rhodes Auditorium at the Chicago Medical School in North Chicago, at 8 p.m. Saturday's concert will be held at the West High School Auditorium.

On Sunday, Dec. 10, at 2 and 7 p.m., "The Magic of the Nutcracker," will have two performances at the Butler Auditorium, at Libertyville High.

At 8 p.m., on Saturday, Dec. 9, under the direction of Richard Cohn, acclaimed baritone soloist, The New Oratio Singers will perform at the Woodstock Opera House.

For a good old hometown Christmas, it's the Yuletide Hoedown at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 9, at the Grayslake Park Dist. Bldg.

An antique show and collectables flea market, for Christmas shoppers looking for the unusual, is set from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., on Sunday, Dec. 10, at the Lake County Fairgrounds in Grayslake.

If it's art you're after, stop in at the new Etc., Etc., Etc. Gallery, just past the intersection of Rtes. 83 and 120 in Grayslake.

For devotees of the Land of Oz, St. Luke's Hospital in Racine is featuring "The Merry Old Land Of Oz." Some of the original Munchkins will be there to show visitors Dorothy's ruby slippers and other authentic Oz memorabilia.

'Funny Girl' opens at Marriott

The Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre has just opened its production of 'Funny Girl' to rave reviews. Fanny Brice, played by Linda Balgord (right) joins chorus line to the consternation of, from left, Kelly Russell, Lisa Comeaux Harloff and Annette Thurman in musical based on Brice's life. See stage review in next week's Weekend.

Elizabethan feast to benefit Centre

A sixteenth century Elizabethan feast to benefit the F. J. Harnish Shakespeare Centre is planned for Dec. 9, at 7 p.m on the campus of the College of Lake County, Grayslake.

Elizabeth I's Nonesuch Palace at Yuletide, re-created in the college atrium, will be the setting for the event, which features authentic Elizabethan recipes prepared by a European chef.

Costumed characters including Queen Elizabeth and Sir Walter Raleigh, acrobats, jugglers, madrigal ensembles, a children's choir and musicians will perform continuously throughout the event. A performance will also be given by Ring of Steel, a professional swordplay company. In all, more than 100 performers, including former students of F.J. Harnish, will participate in the event.

A professional set designer will re-create a two story hall where diners will be surrounded by brass rubbings, banners and traditional decor of the Elizabethan period.

The F.J. Harnish Shakespeare Centre will be a regional resource housing collected books, video tapes and recordings relating to Elizabethan arts and sciences. A project of the College of Lake County Foundation, the Shakespeare Centre is named for F.J. Harnish, 1988 Illinois Citizen of the Year and respected theater and speech instructor.

A noted Shakespearean scholar, Harnish portrayed William Shakespeare for audiences at King Richard's Faire each summer. In addition to his role as a founding instructor at the College of Lake County, Harnish was a member of the theatre faculties at Northern Illinois University and Eastern New Mexico University, and two-term president of the Illinois Theatre Assn.

Tickets for the Elizabethan Feast are $45 per person and are available by mail from the F.J. Harnish Shakespeare Centre, c/o College of Lake County Foundation, 19351 West Washington St., Grayslake, IL 60030.

The feast was also scheduled to be held on Dec. 8 but lagging ticket sales brought a cancellation of the feast on that date.

College's 'Christmas Carol' to draw aid for needy

The annual production of "A Christmas Carol," by the Barat College Performing Arts Center, offers theater patrons a unique way to share in the spirit of the season. This year, Dec. 1-9, playgoers are asked to bring donations of food and clothing when they come to the Drake Theatre to see "A Christmas Carol."

"Christmas Carol" is Charles Dickens' classic story of the misanthropic Mr. Scrooge and his discovery of the true meaning and spirit of Christmas. The Barat production is a high-energy, visually beautiful staging that entertains and delights with its theatricality and warmth.

Donations of clothing and non-perishable food items will be collected before each performance. The donations will go to help feed and clothe homeless and needy people in Lake County.

Large numbers of people, families from all over Lake County, are expected to participate in the drive to help the homeless during the holiday season.

Karla Koskinen, a Waukegan resident, faculty director of the production, admits that some residents of Lake County are either not aware, or choose to ignore, the really needy in the county.

"But hopelessness and need are a sad reality in many of the communities," Koskinen reflects. "It hurts to know that amidst the fabled plenty of our community there exists a group of people who are desperate for even the most basic of necessities. The help that area residents can offer, whether by bringing donations to our play or by contributing to efforts sponsored by churches or civic organizations, is especially welcome now as the weather turns cold and the holidays begin. I can't think of a better way for a family to celebrate together than by doing something for the needy."

THIS WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

By Joyce Jillson

Weekly Tip: Not too many planetary changes to deal with, giving you the time to ease into the holiday spirit. Give people a kind word; they may need it.

Aries (March 21-April 19) Your social contacts serve you well this week. Behind-the-scenes assistance comes. Aries brings admirers.

Taurus (April 20-May 20). Cater to superiors and keep your career in a steady direction. News from afar. Hugs come too.

Gemini (May 21-June 21). Long-distance communications, legal or foreign affairs keep you busy. Imaginative career ideas are well received.

Cancer (June 22-July 22). If possible, remain detached in emotional situations; keep a clear head. Get as dreamy as you'd like.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22). Responding to your partner's needs brings you the security you need. Meet challenges head-on.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Unique solution to office snafu comes. Maintain your physical workout program. Give yourself a break; forget trying to do more.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In the midst of the frantic holiday season, remember to have fun! Lovers hunger for you.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21) Strengthen the basic foundations of your life — home, family and friendships. You're at your psychic best. Take time to go within.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Make as many connections as possible; talk yourself up! Success on foreign or long-distance matters.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Financial matters may be weighty on your mind, but there are still profits to be made. Highlight romance.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Your own actions determine the course of this week's events. You could be in the lap of luxury.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20) Do as many small favors and kindnesses as you can this week. Luck supports every endeavor.

If You Were Born This Week

Happy Birthday Sagittarius! Many interesting short trips keep you busy in February. A reconciliation with relatives is possible.

Christmas tree care easy—if you know how

During this holiday season, more than 35 million Americans will buy natural Christmas trees.

If you're among them, these suggestions by James A. Fizzell, University of Illinois Horticulturist in Cook County, should be useful in helping keep the tree fresh as long as possible.

Fizzell says, pulling and bending needles, bouncing the butt of the tree on the ground to see if needles fall off, or snapping small branches are not good ways to tell if the tree is fresh. And in most cases, these practices can destroy the appearance of the tree for others who may visit the lot after you do.

If you buy your tree "off the lot," it's best to buy it early in the season. Trees on many retail lots were cut in October or early November. And the sooner you can get your tree home to a constant source of water, the fresher it will stay. Cutting a tree from a "choose and cut" plantation will ensure a fresh tree.

Once you've chosen your tree, you need to protect it during the drive home. Wind rushing through the tree can cause it to lose valuable moisture. For long trips, plan to cover trees tied on top the car or in an open trunk.

If you won't be putting the tree in its stand right away, store it in a place that is out of the wind and where it will not freeze.

Make a fresh cut on the butt by removing one inch of the trunk, and place the tree in a bucket of fresh water. Be sure the tree has a constant source of water.

When you're ready to put the tree up in the house, remove another inch of the stump. A flat cut is best; there is no advantage to an angled cut.

Immediately place the tree into a stand that holds at least a half gallon of water. A fresh tree may soak up a quart or more of water per day. Avoid the tiny stands that hold only a cup or two of water. Keep the water level well above the base of the cut at all times. If the cut base dries out, the sap will harden and the tree will not take up any more water.

No water additives such as aspirin, sugar or flame retardant are necessary. All a fresh tree needs is continued watering.

Many families like to put their tree up in front of a large picture window or patio door, but that's about the worst place to put it. Avoid standing the tree in front of large glass surfaces that expose it to the sun and heat. Furnace register vents and fireplaces exposing the tree to heat will lead to rapid moisture loss.

Expect a fresh tree to use one-half to two gallons of water the first day it's brought inside. A fresh tree will continue to use water, but at a reduced rate throughout the holiday season.

A truly fresh tree is not a fire hazard. It will not burn. If the tree has been allowed to dry out, however, fire is a very real threat.

If you have made a fresh cut on the base and the tree no longer takes up water, it has lost moisture below a critical level and will never regain its freshness. A tree in this condition will burn and should be removed from the house.

Sequoits hope to show first NSC win no fluke

For Warren, the weekend will be a crucial early season test against two teams which figure to contend for the North Suburban Conference championship.

For Antioch, the first doubleheader of league games gives the team an opportunity to prove that the Sequoits do belong on the top.

Such was the aftermath following Antioch's 72-65 upset victory.

"Now people look at the record and say if it is a fluke or for real. We think we can play that way each night," Antioch Coach Jeff Dresser said.

"We have our hands full. We will find out what we are made of early," Warren Coach Darrel Bader said of the Dec. 8 game against Fenton and the Dec. 9 contest against Libertyville.

Warren is defending NSC champs and was coming off three strong performances in winning its Thanksgiving tournament. Antioch, on the other hand, was 1-3 at Rockford.

"Intensity. We kept it up the whole game," Dresser said.

The contest at Antioch allowed the home team to find a new weapon. Mike Newcomb, a 6-3 junior center, showed his outside shooting ability by canning five three-point shots in seven attempts.

"We ran some special plays for him and Jeff Becker. The plays are not always designed for threes," Dresser said.

Newcomb finished with 22 points.

While the three-pointers were flashy, the most important of his points came from a traditional means - a free throw. Ahead 65-63, Newcomb was sent to the line and made one of two to give the Sequoits a lift with just under three minutes left.

Matt Pelland, who has scored 101 points in five games, scored 24 points to lead Antioch as the Sequoits got the ball inside effectively.

Warren used its pressure defense in the second half and Dresser said the team responded well. He described Warren's Dave Spiller as a "tenacious player on defense' and to combat that, he used guards Carl Galdine, a 5-10 senior and Tim Fox, a 5-10 sophomore to run the offense.

Antioch zoomed to a 24-19 first quarter lead, only to see Warren chip away and gain a halftime tie.

The Sequoits then took over with rebounding, while holding Warren to under 40 percent shooting from the field.

Antioch will face Lake Forest Saturday at home. The Scouts edged Mundelein 47-44 on a last-second layup by Paul Pezza.

Elsewhere in the NSC, North Chicago is hoping home cooking will be just what the doctor ordered when the Warhawks host Stevenson Dec. 8.

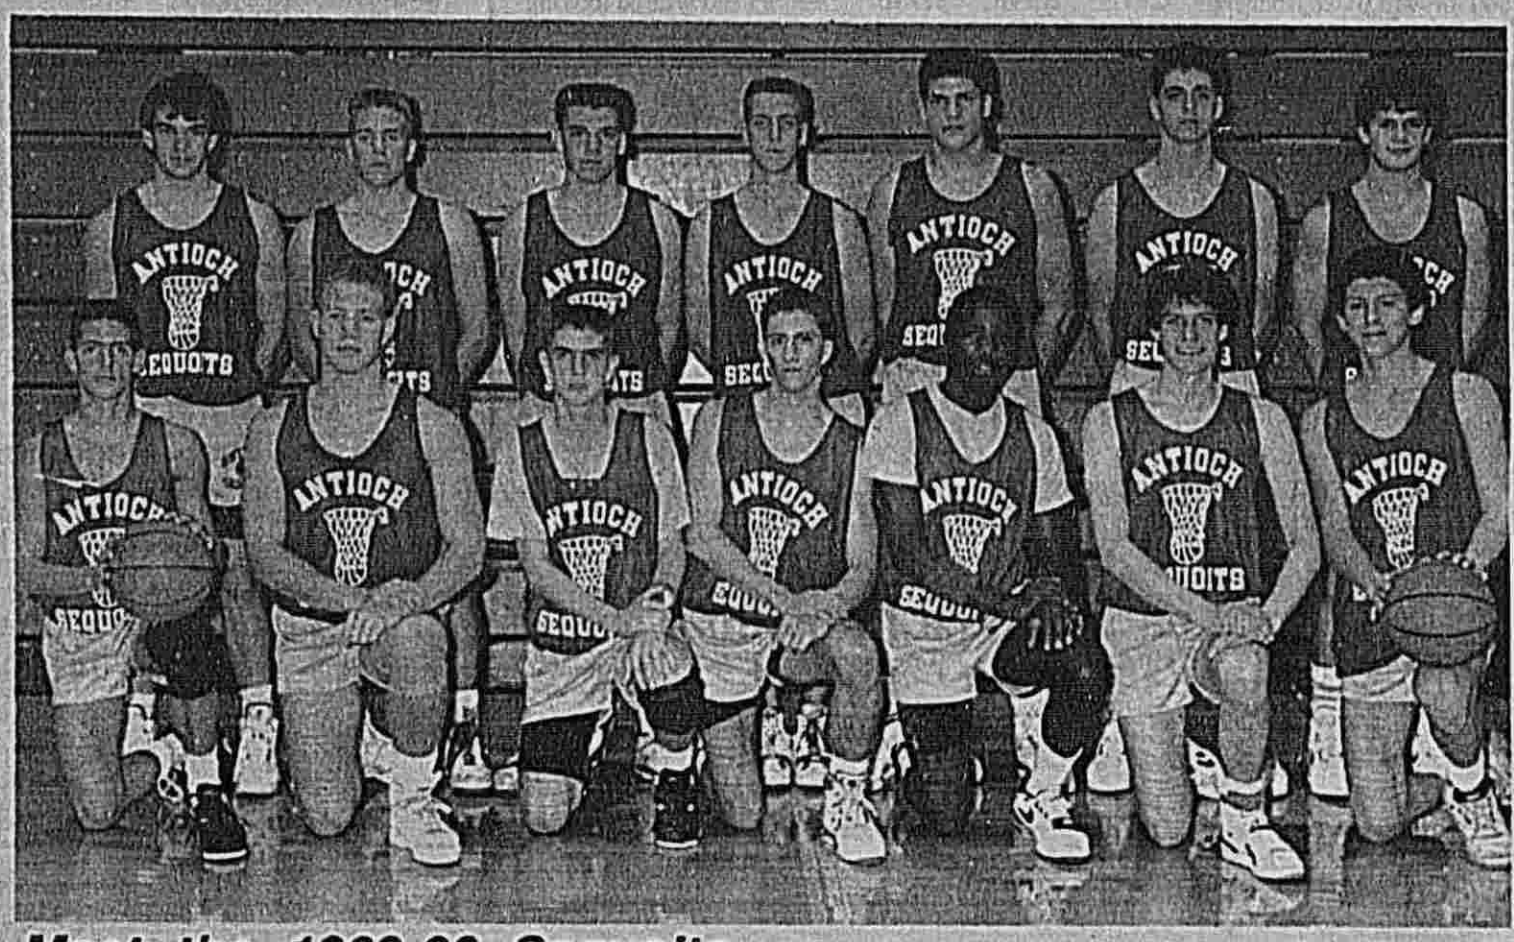

The Warhawks were romped on by NSC contender Fenton 78-55.

"We need to find the right combinations. We are definitely dissatisfied with our performance," Coach Joe Wharton said.

Wharton, who preached a calmer atmosphere when the season started, is by no means ready to give up the ship. "There are still 17 more games to go. I'm sure no one will walk in and take it," Wharton said of the conference race.

The Bison used a first quarter run to garner a 21-15 lead after one.

Mike Warren led Fenton with 17 points, Mike Grossi had 13 and Nick Marhsall 11 points.

Antioch grapplers face tough NSC test in 'Cats

Antioch High School wrestling Coach Ed DeRousse knows what his team is up against when the Sequoits host Libertyville Dec. 8.

"It will be the toughest match of the season," DeRousse said.

The Sequoits warmed up for the undefeated North Suburban Conference power by doubling the score on Warren 42-21. The win evened the Sequoits dual match record at 1-1 overall.

Warren took three of the upper weight classes, but Antioch got off to a good start in the lower weights to build a lead.

At 103 pounds, Greg Zalapi won in a fall against Jeremy Secoy in :45 seconds.

Warren's Eric Marker won at 119, but the Sequoits took the next four of five weight classes.

Gregg Locher won in a 10-2 decision at 130 over Jeff Golembeck, Warren's Jeff Ray won at 135 in a close 7-4 decision over Glen Osmond.

Tim Lahn, whose twin bother Tom makes up a one-two family punch, won at 140, George Valbach at 145 and Matt Stebl at 152 all won by pins.

Tom Lahn won by technical fall at 5:58 over Nathan Welton at 160.

DeRousse, who won his 300th career dual meet last year, has more than just a slogan when he says his team is a family. There are four sets of brothers on the squad.

"They're mature and they are able to handle it," the coach said.

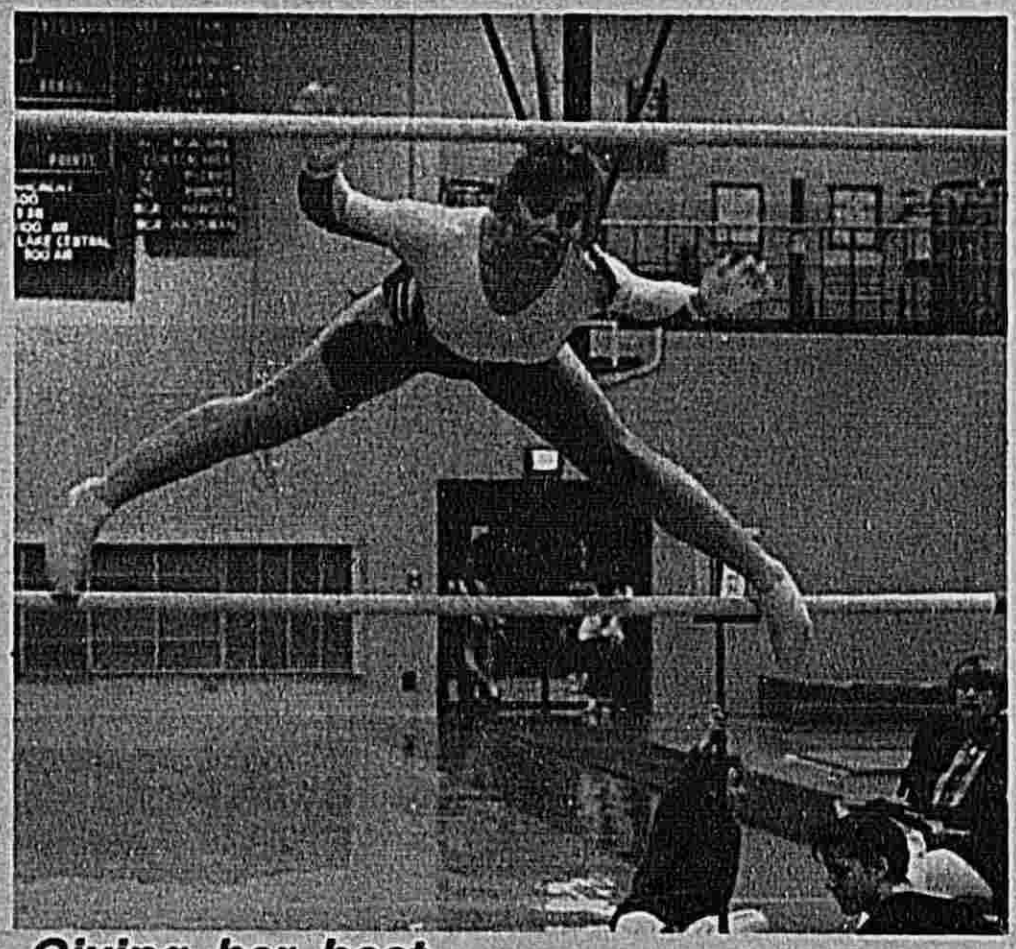

Tim and Tom Lahn are twin brothers, along with Kevin and Keith Lahn.

Other family members on the team are Adam and Jason Grinde, both seniors, Matt and John Spedl and twins Keith and Kevin Wisniewski.

Following the win over Warren, Antioch competed at the always tough Stagg tournament and came away with some strong individual efforts.

Tim Lahn was third at 140 pounds, Osmond was eighth at 135, Tom Lahn was seventh and Adam Grinde topped the finishers with a fourth at 189.

"We're looking forward to the conference and the regional meets. We won't be a power in the state, but we should be competitive at the regional level," DeRousse said.

Giving her best

Williams notches first goal for Lake Forest

Randall Williams, son of Irene and Ronald Williams of Lindenhurst, scored a goal in a Lake Forest College hockey game against Notre Dame.

Lake Forest College fell 6-3 to Notre Dame after spotting the Irish a 3-0 lead. Williams' goal was assisted by Dan Salvin.

The Foresters were 2-4 after the loss.

Also at Lake Forest, Greg Kreitner, son of Marilyn and Tim Briscoe of Lake Villa, was sidelined as the starting center in the early going. He is a graduate of Round Lake Senior High School.

Cats, Pats place seven on all NSC soccer squad

Libertyville and Stevenson and Antioch High Schools dominated play in the North Suburban Conference soccer season and that resulted in the three teams placing teams having a combined 19 players selected to the all-league team.

Stevenson's selections included five seniors and two juniors. Senior Patriots chosen were backs Kevin Coskren, Tristan Napote and Nate Osicka, midfielder Adam Gryglas and forward Blake Rodgers. Juniors making the team were goalkeeper David Deck and midfielder Toni Neri.

Libertyville advanced to the Sweet 16 level of post-season play and the Wildcats placed seniors, juniors and sophomores as all NSC players. Soph forward Adrian Mihalic was one of two NSC sophs to make the team. Junior Keith Koonan made the squad along with senior midfielders Alex and Mark DeStefano, senior defender Chris Bove, senior midfielder John Cimroli, and forward David Falcetto.

Antioch, which won a regional for the first time and advanced to the sectional final round before losing to Palatine in overtime, had five players make the team. Juniors Jason Maset, a right winger and center midfielder Craig Hanrahan are joined by seniors Drew Johnson, a sweeper; Mike Deman, a stopper, Vince Loscacco, a stopper.

Mundelein had two seniors and will be looking to two freshmen who made the squad for future success. Freshman Joe Frice, a sweeper and forward Walter Heinns, a midfielder.

Warren was represented by Kevin Guevara, Kirk Nuss, Mike Fish and Chris Geissler.

CHS hockey overcomes obstacles, wins opener

By BRENT KILLACKEY
Lakeland Newspapers

With the rapidly season approaching rapidly, people are beginning the process of assembling a wish list - a list of their items they want as gifts. These lists traditionally include such items as power tools and kitchen appliances. One particular coach at Carmel High has an unusual item on his list.

"I wish we had an ice arena," said hockey Coach Jim Nolan. But Nolan is not disillusioned by his dream for a rink. He realizes it is almost a hopeless thought, thus the team does its best with what it has.

"It's a huge luxury and great advantage to have a rink on campus," Nolan said. But to a hockey player, the lack of a rink is normal. "They're just aren't hockey rinks all over the place," he said.

Despite the disadvantages, the Carmel hockey team finished 12-10 last year, and started off this season with a 10-4 win over Cary-Grove on Nov. 28.

Nolan identified the team's strength, not by naming a particular type, rather he named three players - Jeff Wilks, Monte Huber and Mike Fiore.

"Not to diminish the roles of anyone else, but the team will sink or swim with those three guys. Wilks and Huber are talented scorers and skaters and Fiore is an outstanding goalie. It's not fair to put pressure on these guys, but those guys, I think, know that," added Nolan.

The team's weakness this year, plagues many teams in all sports. "Even though we have eight seniors on the team, we are still a little inexperienced in some areas. We have three lines that we use and the second and third lines lack some of the experience. But we are getting good performances out of them," Nolan said.

The performance and dedication of Carmel hockey players can be attributed to the fact, according to Nolan, is the sport is entirely funded by the players themselves.

"Each kid pays $280 and it covers the cost of ice time, referees and the game time," Nolan said.

And ice time can be a considerable expense. During peak hours, the rink can cost anywhere from $85 to $120 an hour.

"If you rent ice time at three in the morning, it is only $15. But we don't practice at three in the morning because I don't feel like getting up that early," Nolan said humorously.

"Because ice time is so expensive, you can't waste any time in practice talking," Nolan said. Instead, Nolan has the team work on drills and explains concepts off the ice. The drills become so routine that, "by the end of the season we'll run 15 to 20 drill and it will take a half a second to explain the drill and get it underway."

In addition to the $280 fee, Carmel hockey players must supply their own equipment. Skates can run from $150- $300 and with the other equipment the total can run from $400 to $500, according to Nolan. Every player who paid the $280 gets to play.

The team is also deficient this year in conditioning. This deficiency cannot be overcome, however, because most players work to pay for the expenses of hockey and their schedules are already full, and because of a lack of facilities at Carmel. With seven basketball teams and the wrestling teams, the gym and weight rooms are taken up every day of the week.

Nolan expects Lake Forest Academy and Zion-Benton to be the toughest teams in the Northern Illinois Hockey League this year. Both have unlimited access to their own rinks.

Nolan started the Carmel hockey program in 1978 and the team joined the league one year later.

Against the Trojans in the season opener, the game started a little choppy for Carmel, with Cary-Grove scoring three consecutive goals within the first seven minutes in the first period.

Wins not only priority for CHS's Rosberg

By BRENT KILLACKEY
Lakeland Newspapers

"If you're only worried about winning - we had 15 wins last year - if that was the only goal then we would have been successful only 15 times the whole year," Carmel boys basketball coach Scott Rosberg said.

"So I look at a lot of other things as being important - quality practices, quality execution, being around quality people," Rosberg said.

Rosberg's basketball philosophy fell into place Friday as St. Patrick (3-1) beat Carmel (2-2) 73-68. The game was the East Suburban Catholic Conference opener for both teams.

Although not entirely happy with the slow first quarter performance of his team, Rosberg feels things improved in the second half.

"We really picked up our defensive intensity in the second half. They just did not allow us to get the ball inside much. We dug ourselves a whole. For the most part we held our own with them," Rosberg said.

The game seemed to slip away from Carmel within the first few minutes. The Shamrock offense was led by a stunning performance by Kevin Terrel (five-for-six with 28 points). Terrel was able to monopolize heavily on turnovers.

Round Lake tops Cager Report

This week's Lakeland Newspapers top five basketball teams will be hoping that they do not share the same fate as last week's quintet.

Three of the top five lost contests last week.

This week's top five:

1.Round Lake: The Panthers won three times last week to up their record to 6-0. Coach Bob Ward's team showed balance as Van Thomas was the leading scorer in a 55-49 win at Cary Grove, Scott Hall was the leader in a 61-45 win over Marian Central to open Northwest Suburban Conference play and Wally Illg was the top scorer in a 52-44 win at Riverside-Brookfield.

2.Richmond-Burton: The Rockets also won all their games, beating Big Foot 65-60 in a come-from behind effort and trouncing North Boone. Four starters reached double figures in the Big Eight Conference opener. Next game: at Harvard Dec. 8.

3.Grant: the Bulldogs reach the top five with solid wins over Grayslake 55-36 and Westosha Central. Next game: against Lake Zurich for share of first place in NWSC Dec. 8.

4.Warren: the Blue Devils slipped to 3-1 with 72-65 upset loss at Antioch. Warren faces key weekend when it hosts Fenton and Libertyville.

5.Libertyville: Wildcats started the North Suburban Conference season with solid win over Zion-Benton, 55-39. Libertyville, 3-1, hosts Antioch Dec. 8 in NSC action and is at Warren Dec. 9.

EYE CARE

News, Views & Questions About Your Eyes
By
Robert L. Epstein, M.D., Director
Illinois Center for Corrective Eye Surgery

QUESTION: Some people see small specs or light flashes that obstruct their vision. Are these a serious eye problem?

ANSWER: Normally, these are not indications of serious eye problems. The small specs are called floaters. Though they appear to be in front of the eye, they are really small clumps that form in the clear, jelly-like fluid inside the eye. They may appear as dots, circles, lines or cobwebs. What you see are the shadows of these clumps on the retina. If they interfere with your vision, move your eye around to swirl the fluid in the eye and move the floater out of the way.
The flashes are caused when the fluid pulls on the retina. If the substance pulls away from the retina, the flashes may last for several weeks. Flashes and floaters often occur with age and usually do not indicate a serious vision problem. If you experience a large number of them with great frequency or if you lose a portion of your field of vision, you should visit your ophthalmologist to have your eyes examined.

Hockey

Carmel's goalie, Jeff Grollo, stopped 27 shots on goal. "That's a full night's work," Nolan said.

Nolan was pleased with the victory and added: "one down, 18 or 19 to go."

And Carmel quickly countered by scoring three of their own goals within one and one-half minutes. Scoring for Carmel were Mike Martin, Huber (two assists) and Charlie Engman.

In the second period, the Corsairs breezed ahead scoring three more goals, two by Jeff Wilks (two assists, two penalties) and one by Huber. Cary-Grove was never able to regain the tempo and scored only one more goal in the third period. Carmel pushed ahead even further, scoring four more times.

Wilks had two more goals, Rob Madej had one and Huber had the other.

Grayslake to honor LaPortas

The Grayslake Economic Development Commission has voted to award the annual Economic Development Award to Dr. Michael and Pat LaPorta.

The award is presented to an individual who:

-brings increased awareness of and positive recognition to Grayslake;

-whose outstanding individual effort and-or investment in the community strengthens the area's economy;

-makes a significant contribution to expansion of the community's tax base and the generation of additional revenues in the area's economy;

"In addition, their extensive investment in community projects, organizations and charitable causes brings positive awareness and recognition to Grayslake," an EDC press release said.

The LaPortas are the third recipients of the award. State Reps. Robert Churchill and Virginia Flester-Fredrick won the first award and Doug Rockenbach was honored in 1988.

Mike and Pat LaPorta own and operate Grayslake True Value, Reed Hill Florist, and Dr. LaPorta's dentist office in Grayslake. They will be honored at the Grayslake Area Chamber of Commerce Christmas Party Dec. 14.

Food appeal brings in 105,000 canned goods

There will be less hunger here in the coming months thanks to the 1989 Scouting for Food Good Turn of the Boy Scouts of America, which brought in 105,000 canned goods locally as part of a massive nationwide appeal.

"We are extremely pleased with the results and we are deeply appreciative of the community's cooperation," said John Cadwallader, council executive, Northeast Illinois Council.

An estimated 3,200 youth from the council took part in the drive, distributing bags donated by Domino's Pizza Oct. 21. Hundreds of adults also assisted with the effort.

Canned goods were taken by trucks donated by Abbott Laboratories and the Illinois National Guard to collection stations where they were sorted, marked as donated and then prepared for distribution to food banks in the area.

Assisting with the distribution were Lake County Food Resource Council, Food Aid Center of Evanston, and New Trier Twp.

Nationwide totals were not immediately available, but scout officials at the group's national headquarters in Irving, Texas, said a majority of the four million youth members of the organization participated.

"This is an excellent demonstration of Scouting's long-standing commitment to community service," noted Richard Kasperson, council president. "Scouting for Food, in itself, will not solve the centuries-old problem of hunger, but it will feed a lot of America's hungry people." In its literature, Boy Scouts of America has noted that an estimated 20 million Americans, including some four million children, go hungry at some point every month.

This is the second year the appeal has been conducted by local Scouts.
